WASHINGTON LETTER.

[From our Regular Correspondent.]

WASHINGTON, Nov., 17, 1890.

The secret is out at last, and there is no longer any mystery as to the democratic howls for a recount of the population of New York City, by the Census bureau. It is not because they hope to gain an additional member of the House, and one more vote in the electoral college for the State of New York. They are playing for much larger stakes. The scheme is to create such a hubbub over this recount that Congress will pass a resolution ordering it, and then for the milk in the cocoanut—the postponement of the Congressional apportionment until the Fifty-second Congress meets. They know that an apportionment bill such as Representative Dunnell's will give the republicans from 17 to 19 additional Representatives in the Fifty-third Congress and an equal number of votes in the electoral college which will elect the next President, and they are playing a bold game in order to prevent the present session, and to get the apportionment into their own hands.

But it is a decided waste of energy. The first business of the republican House, which meets December 1, will be to perfect and pass a fair and just apportionment bill based upon the returns of the eleventh census. The bill introduced by Mr. Dunnell at the last session will necessarily have to be somewhat changed because the population of the country fell below the estimates upon which it was based, but there is not the slightest danger that democratic howls can succeed in having the bill postponed.

Everybody here is talking reciprocity. The new Spanish Minister, Senor Miguel Suares Guanes, has arrived here, been presented to the President and has already opened negotiations with Secretary Blaine looking towards a reciprocity treaty between the United States and Spain, which will of course, include Cuba. In his speech to the President the new minister made it very plain that government was anxious to have reciprocity, and privately he has talked even plainer. Negotiations are also in progress with several other countries, notably those of Central and South America, and it will not be surprising if the Senate shall be called upon to ratify four or five reciprocity treaties before the expiration of the Fifty-first Congress.

The joint Senate and House committee, authorized at the last session of Congress to visit the Pacific coast for the purpose of investigating the alleged violations of the Chinese emigration law, left here Saturday morning in charge of a deputy, Sergeant-at-Arms of the Senate and accompanied by a clerk and stenographer to take down the testimony taken by the committee. The first meeting is to be held at Spokane Falls, Washington, where Senator Squire will join them. They are to visit in the order named, Takoma, Seattle, Port Townsend, San Francisco, Los Angeles, and Sandiego about Christmas.

The President spends the greater portion of his time just now in the preparation of his annual message to Congress, which promises to be an unusually interesting and important document, but he takes time to confer with republican Senators and Representatives, who are just arriving quite rapidly in order to get the benefit of their advice on the subjects which he proposes to treat in his message.

It is thought that within a week or ten days the most of the republican Senators and representatives will be here, and it is proposed that a conference be held to decide upon the legislation of the coming sessions. It is known that the President will take strong grounds for the immediate passage of the apportionment bill and the shipping bills, and is it believed by many that he will also urge the passage of the general election bill by the Senate, but there are some doubters as to the last measure.

Postmaster General Wanamaker has weathered the financial storm in spite of the determined effort of Say Gould and the Louisana lottery company to break down his personal credit is as as good as it ever was. This attempt to bring about the private financial ruin of a public official because his official acts is one of the most disgraceful in our history. Mr. Gould dislikes Mr, Wanamaker because of his advocacy of a postal telegraph system and the lottery folks regard him as the author of their ruin, so they combined for revenge. The purpose being to force Mr. Wanamaker into bankruptcy. But it was useless: The lottery law is on our books to stay, and Mr. Wanamaker will take a more advanced stand than ever, in his annual report, in favor of a postal telegraph.

I heard a gentleman say to-day that the President has decided upon the successor to the late Justice Miller, and that his name would go to the Senate immediately after Congress meet. The gentleman's relations with Mr. Harrison are such as to leave no doubt in my mind. He would not tell the name of the new Justice, in fact he wouldn't admit that he knew it.

THE DUTY OF CONGRESS.

The Record objects to having Congress take in its own hands the business of defining the Congressional districts, because, first, the members of the state delegations would fix up the districts solely with a view of their own return to Congress, and, second, "the States, having always exercised the right of making their own districts, should never surrender one of the attributes of sovereignty."

As to the second objection it is enough to say that the States do not exercise the right of making districts as an attribute of sovereignty. They do so under a concession granted by the Constitution until such time as Congress shall see fit to relieve them of the task. "The times, places, and manner of holding elections for Senators and Representatives shall be prescribed in each State by the Legislature thereof, but the Congress may at any time by law make or alter such regulations, except as to the places of choosing Senators." This is the language of the Constitution, and under it Congress has little by little taken from the State most of the decretion granted to them until Congress should take inconsistant action. In the election of United State Senators no discretion is allowed the State Legislature except as to the place of meeting. All the law on the subject is United States law, ratified, it is true, by the Legislature in Pennsylvania, but such ratification was never necessary to give it affect. In the same manner Congress has gradually assumed a large measure of control in the election of Representatives. It has defined the time, and to a large extent the manner, of holding such elections. It only remains for it now to fix the places that is, districts, when in its wisdom it sees proper to do so.

Experience shows that the priviledge of fixing the bounderies of legislative districts ought not to be left to the States as nearly all of them have repeatedly abused the privilege, and some do now habitually abuse it beyond all toleration. The gerrymander of another party, the single object being to secure to, the party temporarily in power a larger representation in Congress than its relative numeral strength justifies. No State delegation could do worse than the Appointment Committee in its State Legislature does for it. The excessive zeal of partisan in one State delegation would be tampered by the moderation of members from other States who have nothing to gain and much to lose by incurring the odium of supporting a gerrymandered and unjust districting bill.

The framers of the Constitution preferred to have the States do the districting so long as they could be trusted to do it properly, but with the foresight of real statesman they perceived that the real power might be abused by the States, and therefore they provided that Congress might take the whole matter whenever it saw proper, That time has now arrived. Some State Legislatures have taken to abuse this privilege most outrageously. This has become so patent that if Congress intends or desires to be an honest expression of the popular will it must intervene to protect itself from gerrymandered districting as well as from fradulent elections. The time has come for such action now. Will this Congress have the courage to do its duty.

A Marriage Tariff.

What is causing all the elopements? Scarcely a day passes without recording one or more runaway marriages. They seem to have increased under the operation of the license law. When it was enacted parents of impressionable daughters and lovesick sons o'er young too many yet felt easier. Heads of families aware of covert engagements between youths and maidens who stoood in the shadow of parental disfavor imagined the law would deter them from entering upon alliances without obtaining the consent longed for. But love laughs at civil and legal barriers. Of course application for license meant publicity and legal formality, and fathers and mothers probably imagined that Cupid could be checkmated. They loosened the reins and closed their eyes in security. Not so the young folk, judging from the returns coming in from all quarters of Pennsylvania in general and Allegheny county in particular. They picked out their Gretna greens and married without home leave or home license. So the "bless you, my children," business has flourished,

The marriage license law is not a failure on this account, however. What is needed is a national marriage law—one that will cause the loving couples to keep from drowning in the matrimonial sea, on the edges of which so many fond parents are standing ringing their hands at present. Of course, poetic justice would demand that such a law would apply to the stern parent as well as to the cooing children—reach reach heredity as well as bull-headedness! But while it could not work both ways, it might help to keep young hearts from beating out of tune. Those under the ban of parental disfavor would be compelled to court longer. and what is sweeter than courtship—stolen kisses, sureptitious glances and smuggled smiles. Under it wooing could still be carried on in secret, but matrimony would see the broad, open light of the day.

Until some such measure is enacted by the guardians of the nation elopers and elopements will keep on furnishing food for the gossips and anxiety for the firesides. Just now it is an epidemic. Love and marriage are on the free list. They need a high home tariff.

The Liquor Traffic.

The general tendency in the administration of the law these days is to outlaw the liquor traffic by oppressive enactments. This is shown in the provisions of our statutes in regard to selling liquor to minors and to men of intemperate habits. No matter how confident the dispenser of drinks may be that the one he is selling liquor to has attained the legal age, and even if one who has not attained his majority represents himself to be a man, in case the hotel-keeper makes a mistake he is liable to all the penalties of the law.

It is doubtful if any bar keeper can say with assurance any time that he is not violating the law by selling to men of intemperate habits. In all these cases, contrary to the precedents governing other criminal prosecutions, instead of the doubts being resolved in favor of the defendant, they are generally construed against him. Now, these provisions and rulings are manifestly unjust. The only pretext for their continuance is to oppress the rum traffic and weigh it down with harrassing burdens and annoyances. Responsible as it is for so much misery and crime even the State law so far forgets the justice that should permeate all its statutes, and deals unfairly and inconsistently with this scapegoat traffic.

Heaven knows that the rum trade is deserving of no consideration at the hands of the law, but at the same time if the commonwealth is willing to legitimize the business, it should be also willing to place it above petty persecution, While the people of Pennsylvania in their wisdom have declared that liquor selling shall continue, they at the same time keep on the statute books a code of laws regulating this traffic, which could not be acceptably fulfilled by any individual, unless he was a mind-reader or gifted with the power of second-sight.

A SUICIDES BARGAIN.

He Promises to Vote for a Coroner Who Would Not "Cut Him Open."

[Indianapolis News.

I know three men who are going to commit suicide, was the striking remark made by Dr. Wagner, the County Coroner.

Are you going to take any steps to prevent them from working out their purpose?

No. If a man is in his right mind and is sure he is ready to leave this world, I do not know any way to prevent. There are a thousand. ways by which a man may take his life, and the man who may be called a 'confirmed suicide' will sooner or later accomplish his purpose.

I know of 11 men told me they were were bound to commit suicide. They now fill suicide's graves, and I, though aware of their purpose, was powerless to prevent it. Nearly every man, I suppose, has friends who are possessed of the suicide mania. Certainly, every coroner has had experiences of this kind.

I recently had an extraordinary confidence reposed in me. You remember that an esteemed and rich German citizen, living on North New Jersey street, died under peculiar circumstancec some weeks ago. He was a Democrat, and, as you know, I was nominated and elected Coroner as a Republican. Just before the election the German in question came to me with this proposition:

Dr. Wagner I will vote for you if you will make me one promise.'

Name it.

If you are elected Coroner I want you to promise that you will not cut me open when I am found dead.

Do you mean to say that you are about to commit suicide?

I am just tired of living and I wan't you to promise what I ask.

I was not able to dissuade the man from his purpose, and I was not much surprised last month, therefore to be called upon to investigate his death. I knew what was the trouble, and no autopsy was necessary

A Nation of Politicians.

The United States is sometimes referred to as a country where political activity is carried to a ridiculous excess, and where political matters are kept before the public eye and mind to the exclusion of other and more useful subjects.

Charles Dickens alluded to this characteristic feature of American society when he said that for six months after a Presidential election the result is talked over, and the three years and a half preceding the Presidential election are spent in a discussion of the future of the respective parties in the coming contest. Now, it is very likely that the American people are more prone to the disquisition of political subjects than most other nations, but we do not think it is a subject of regret nor an evidence of foolishness on the part of the Yankees that such is the case.

The loud-sounding praises of party candidates and party measures and the deep and damning denunciation of the opposition both in its personnel and its practices may be carried to ridiculous extremes sometimes, but it is better thus than to have a public apathy on these subjects, which would remove the eternal vigilance which is the price of liberty;

With all their interest in political affairs the American people have not neglected their business interests and their national progress shows no diminution on account of the continual party struggles for governmental control.

The political situation is the most general and interesting subject for conversation and discussion that we have and it is a pleasure and a profit for all to make themselves acquainted with the subject in all its bearings. Our American people should never forget the interest they owe to public affairs.

When you and your wife make any calls, said a department clerk, who had agreed to supervise the social enterprises those of a friend who had some proclivities in a sporting way. you will want cards. Are you provided in this respect? Oh, I should say so, was the confident assurance. I got three new packs day before yesterday.

THE case of Rosanna Martin, the 70-year old Juliet of Wilkes-Barre, is a most pathetic one. The impressionable young creature full of romantic idealmis, saw the realization of her girlish dreams in Peter Martin, a dashing young cavalier of 77, and when the gallant Romeo, smitten by her charms proposed the momentuous question she laid her shapely head upon his manly bosom to hide her mantling bluses while she softly murmured, 'yes'. And so they were married. But alas for the illusions of youth! Instead of taking his tender and winsome bride on a wedding tour, the ungallant Peter, escorted the fair Rosanna to his home and consigned her to the kitchen to prepare his supper. Human nature could not stand such treatment. She left him, and now the case is being aired in the Divorce Court before an unsympathetic Judge: Rosanna should have modified the opinions of men which she derived from novels by personal observation and pay more attention to the advice of Mrs. Frank Leslie, Ella Wheeler Wilcox, and other experienced ladies on the subject. —On Monday the Philadelphia Inquirer published a four column pathetic story about one William Bierly, of Sugar Valley, now about seventy years old and who has been a raving maniac for fifty years. His loss of reason was caused by over application to study but mostly to a disappointment in a love affair. The story in detail is a pathetic one and if true, the man is more deserving of sympathy than anything else.

WHY GRANT WAS GREAT.

Due Recognition When True Merit is Once Established.

Was Grant a general?—conceded. What made him so?

When U. S. Grant was hauling cord-wood into St. Louis his neighbors did not imagine he would become the the most famous man of his generation. When he was managing the little tannery in Galena no one of his intimates recognized in him a future hero. But he displayed qualities which should have satisfied them he was no common man: What was there about him?

If you start to build a single story shanty you pay little attention to the foundation; you may lay stringers in the sand, with little fear the building will fall. But if you propose erecting a ten-story block, your architect will tell you must go the rock for the basis of your foundation, or the stately structure is liable to tumble about your ears.

The foundation of a great man is moral force—character; this is the rock foundation. The shiftless man lacks it; he never succeeds, Grant never used an oath—a sure indication of moral character. He never told, or listened to, if he could help it, a vulgar story; this showed peculiar moral fiber, an unusual strength of character, He was a man of opinions—as his wife said, was obstinate; in other words—as he had will power. force:

These qualities, with good judgment well balanced mental powers, and peculiar executive ability, supplemented by a peculiar military education, fitted him for the emergency. When it came. As soon as his merits became known, success was assured. This is always the case, with things as with men. I well know the value of Warner's Safe Cure," writes M. Carr, of the Hotel Bennett, Binghampton, N. Y: In 1884 I had difficulty with my kidneys. The doctors did not help me; I was badly out of rig: One day a travelling man from Utica advised me to try Warner's Safe Cure. The first bottle did so much good that when my family doctor called I threw his medicine out of the window, while he was present. I continued to use Warner's Safe Cure until I was entirely well."

The test of merit is the accomplishment of the matter in hand: The best is that which is most certain:

He Got the Girl.

The Philadelphia Times, of Sunday relates the following: "Another tale, in a more cheerful strain, is told of the great flood of June, 1889, which devastated the Susquehanna Valley at the same time the Johnstown calamity occurred: A well-to-do resident, whose house stood close to the river, had a beautiful daughter to whom a handsome young lumberman had been paying suit. For some reason the suitor did not find favor in the father's eyes and he was forbidden to communicate with the girl. He continued his toil and patiently bided his time. A few days before the flood he started up the river [illegible] in bringing down a raft. The raft was being started but the water continued to rise to such an extent that it was deemed advisable to tie up. This was found to be out of the question, as the flood had covered the snubbing posts, and so the raft drifted on, carried by the current. Scores of untenanted houses were passed, and they finally approached the home of the young man's sweetheart. As they drew near they saw the whole family upon the roof frantically screeching for rescue. Aided by the current the crew guided the raft so that it just scraped the eaves of the house, and with one accord the victims began to leap upon the modern ark. The lover however, seeing that his sweetheart was safe, grasped a pike and refused to let the father on board, shouting, 'Will you give me Mary, will you give [illegible]?' The old man's face depicted [illegible] the inward strife between prejudice and self-preservation, but meanwhile the raft was slipping past, and a moment's hesitation would be fatal. 'Take her,' he yelled, the pike was withdrawn and he leaped aboard, 'but, d——n me,' he continued, 'if I ever get you in a hole like that, Bill, I'll drown ye.'

"The couple were married in Lock Haven."

Hurly: "My wife has a very strong will." Burly: "She has." Hurly "Yes, she and I quarreled once, and she said she wouldn't speak to me for a whole day; and, by Jove, she kept her word."

HIS DAY OF DOOM.

HE FACES DEATH CALMLY.

The Scene Upon the Gallows Was a Most Horrible One.

The Hangman Got Rattled at the Last Moment and Failed to Pull the Black Cap Down Over the Whole Face—When the Trap Was Sprung the Victim's Contortions Were So Great That the Hangman Had to Take Hold of His Legs to Stop His Awful Dance in Air.

WOODSTOCK, Ont., Nov. 15.—J. Reginald Birchall was hanged in the jail yard here at 8:26 o'clock Friday morning for the murder of his dupe, Frederick C. Benwell.

The morning dawned bright and clear; it was one of those Indian summer days when men feel joy in living, and in Oxford county, just in this pretty town, Birchall awaited the hangman's summons that he was ready to do him to death.

The officials at the jail were early astir in the morning and some of them had been up all night. Birchall had not slept, but had watched and prayed through the dreary hours with Rev. Mr. Wade, whose loyal kindliness and Christian devotion have stood him in good stead. Breakfast was served to the prisoner at 6 o'clock by Deputy Whitehead, and consisted of three poached eggs, canned peaches, canned blackberries and coffee. Birchall partook of all with his usual appetite and even greeted the man who brought it with an attempt at jest and a pleasant good morning. Rev. Mr. Wade joined him in a cup of coffee.

Soon afterward Sheriff Perry and Prison Inspector Chamberlain entered the cell, and the death warrant was read to the condemned man. His friend Leetham had been admitted meanwhile, and as the fatal words were being read Birchall shuddered a little, and turning to his friend said:

"Take hold of my hand, old man." The request was quickly complied with, and the two friends stood together.

"Have you anything to say against the warrant of the law being fulfilled?" asked Inspector Chamberlain finally when the sheriff ceased reading, and Birchall replied, "I have nothing to say."

In the Jail Yard.

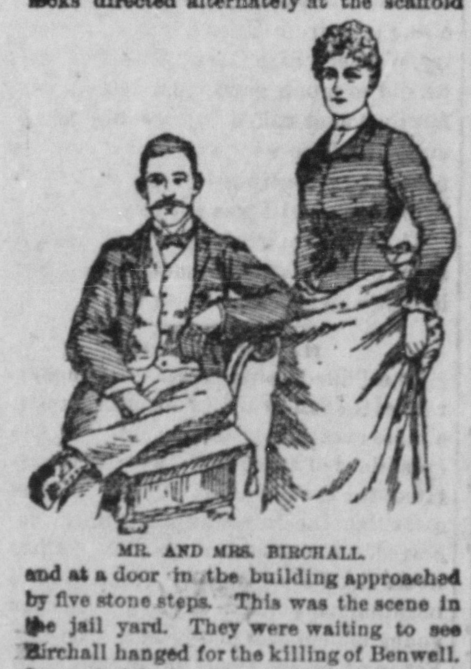
A big walled inclosure carpeted with green sod and flanked on the east by a building cut up by barred windows let deep into light masonry walls, and in a corner a brand new gibbet; the yard full of men with note books out and anxious looks directed alternately at the scaffold and at a door in the building approached by five stone steps. This was the scene in the jail yard. They were waiting to see Birchall hanged for the killing of Benwell.



MR. AND MRS. BIRCHALL.

It was 8 o'clock. Men with tipstaffs were present in force, keeping back the curious throng that crowded toward the gallows. A final effort was made at 8:15, and the men fell back far enough to leave a quarter circle clear, beginning at the south of the door through which the prisoner was to come and extending over to the north wall of the yard.

Then the terrible sound of measured steps was heard to resound from the paved passage into the jail, and a man's voice broke the awed stillness with the beautiful words, "I am the resurrection and the life," and then the speaker appeared, a handsome, kindly looking clergyman, in his white robes, book in hand and eyes turned upward. It was the Rev. Mr. Wade, and he headed the procession of the condemned. After him came the old sheriff, with his cocked hat and insignia of office, and other jail officials, and then Birchall himself, very pale, and his pallor intensified by a blue cheviot suit he wore. When he descended the steps Keeper Perry took his left arm and his friend Leetham his right, and between these two he walked unflinchingly to the gallows and took his place beneath the beam a little east of the center.

The Hangman Rattled.

"Lord let me know my end and the number of my days that I may know how long I have to live." It sounded particularly grim, this appeal of the minister of the gospel, to those who knew that the prayer had been answered before it was spoken, for Birchall's very moments then were countable on the fingers of one hand.

The minister then shook Birchall's pinioned hand and kissed him good-by, after which the psalm was read through.

Then the hangman, grim looking, took Birchall's shoulder and squared him under the beam.

The hangman had talked to some newspaper men and promised them that he would hang Birchall in a way to suit every one. But he didn't. When the final moment came he got rattled. He only pulled the black cap down about half the way over Birchall's face. Then he stepped back and Birchall said, loud enough for every one there to hear:

"Well, won't you shake hands before I go?"

This rather dumfounded the hangman for a moment. Then he thrust forth his hand and shook Birchall's hand.

The minister then began the Lord's prayer. At "Deliver us from evil" the signal of death was given, and the form under the gibbet shot upward into the air, the head horribly twisted to one side. It went away above the gravity line and created a horrible "slack." It completely left the perpendicular and for a second a part of the body was sideways, with the head grotesquely twisted to one side, but this was but the scene of a fraction of a second and the body dropped heavily to the end of the rope.

A Horrible Scene.

The weight fell precisely at 8:26, and then strong men's hearts were stirred and faces turned pale and blood grew chilled in the veins, for Birchall began a terrible gallows dance in midair, his legs drawing up and straightening out many times, his hands clinching convulsively and unclinching as if in mortal agony, till to those who looked on in horrified suspense it seemed as if he would never have done. But the hangman came forward and held down his legs.

Over the upper part of the neck and the lower part of the face where the cap did not come the skin began gradually to darken as if congestion was occurring. At 8:30 Birchall had ceased to struggle, and the doctors were taking his pulse. At that time it had fallen to sixty beats to the minute, and in the next six minutes he was pronounced dead. Inspector Chamberlain, M. [illegible]; Drs. Rice and Burns and Coroner McLay assisted at the gallows. The body was then cut down and an autopsy held.

An application made to the attorney general by Mrs. Birchall's solicitors for leave to take the body home to England was denied in the terse words, "The law must be carried out in all its provisions," so that Birchall will be buried in the jail yard. The reception of this news, it is believed, is what so completely unnerved Birchall's wife. When the telegram was brought to the Commercial hotel where she is stopping, she sat by the window awaiting it. Her attorney read to her the dispatch and she broke down completely on learning its contents. The action of the government in refusing this last sad request is severely commented upon by people here.

BIRCHALL'S CRIME.

BENWELL.

Birchall's crime was the murder of Frederick C. Benwell on Feb. 17, 1890. Briefly, the facts are these: On Feb. 4, Birchall, Benwell, Douglas R. Pelly and Mrs. Birchall left England for Canada, where Benwell and Pelly were to become student farmers on a farm of great extent and elaborate equipment, which Birchall claimed to own, but which in reality did not exist. The young men had given Birchall about $800 each, in return for which he was to pay their passage and afterward pay them a percentage on the farm.

They arrived in New York Feb. 14, and proceeded to Buffalo, where they put up at the Stafford house. On Monday, Feb. 17, Birchall and Benwell left for Canada to look at the farm, Mrs. Birchall and Pelly remaining behind. At Niagara Falls tickets were bought for Eastwood, a village on the line of the Grand Trunk railway. Arriving there the two men set out to walk to the farm, taking a road that led through what is known in the neighborhood as the Dismal Swamp.

In that lonely spot Birchall shot Benwell twice from behind, the bullets entering Benwell's head and killing him instantly. Birchall then cut from the dead man's clothing every name or mark that would tend to establish his identity. He then returned to the station, took the east bound train and reached Buffalo at 1 o'clock that night, when he told Pelly that Benwell did not like the farm and had gone further up the country. The next day Birchall, his wife and Pelly went to Niagara Falls, where they remained several days, Birchall saying the farm was not quite ready for them.

The Fatal Clew.

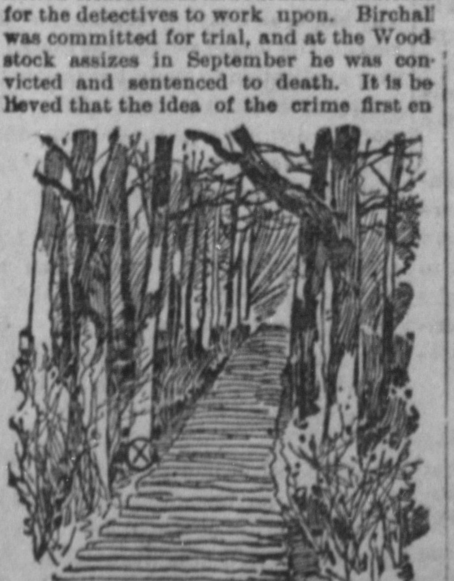
On Friday, the 21st, Benwell's body was found, could not be identified, and was about to be consigned to an unknown's grave, when an ax carelessly dragged over the snow at the scene of the murder uncovered a cigar case lying beneath the overhanging branch of a small sapling. It had evidently been thrown from the murdered man's pocket as he fell, and was overlooked by the murderer. The cigar case bore the name, "F. C. Benwell."

The next day Birchall saw this in the papers, and telling Pelly of it, sent him to New York to look for Benwell, while he went to Princeton to see the body. He viewed the body and identified it as Benwell, saying that Benwell had left him at Niagara Falls on Feb. 17. Birchall returned to the Falls and was arrested, together with his wife and Pelly, two days later, all of them being charged with the crime.

Pelly's story at the preliminary examination cleared him and furnished material for the detectives to work upon. Birchall was committed for trial, and at the Woodstock assizes in September he was convicted and sentenced to death. It is believed that the idea of the crime first entered Birchall's mind in Buffalo. They were nearing their journey's end, and the time was at hand when Birchall must confess to his companions that he was a swindler.



SCENE OF THE MURDER.

X Point leading into the swamp where the body was found.

Birchall was the son of the Rev. Joseph Birchall, rector of Church Kirk, near Accrington, Lancashire, England, a well known and highly respected clergyman. He was born on May 25, 1866.

The murdered man was a son of Col. W. F. Benwell, of the British army, retired, and was highly connected. The family live at Cheltenham.

CAUSED BY A HEAVY FOG.

Two Passengers Killed and Eleven Others Injured—Thirty-five Persons Reported Killed in a Crash Near Cheyenne. Close Shave in Chicago.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 15.—A collision occurred on the Pennsylvania railroad near New Florence, Pa., just before 7 o'clock Friday morning, between the first and second sections of the western express, killing two passengers and injuring eleven others. The killed were:

Henry D. Minot, No. 39 Court street, Boston; Mrs. S. H. Angell, No. 809 Twenty-first street, Washington, D. C.

The injured were: R. S. Delaney and wife, of Haymarket, Va., very seriously; J. F. Matthias, of Baltimore, seriously; J. Hellman, of Washington, internally; William Rochester, of Hoffman house, New York, internally; C. C. Hicks, of Providence, R. I., seriously; Miss M. V. Kellogg, of Richmond, slightly; J. H. Hill, of Sunbury, Pa., internally injured, seriously; Wm. Miller, of Allegheny City, Pa., very seriously; Henry McCormick, engineer, very seriously; Dr. Wiehle, slightly hurt; Mrs. Wiehle, very seriously.

The first section of the western express is made up Pullman sleepers and day coaches. It is known as train No. 9. At Harrisburg the Washington sleeper was attached. The second section is known as train No. 7, and is composed of baggage, express and mail cars. It runs immediately behind No. 9. The first section was due at New Florence at 5:44 a. m., but it was 6:37 when the train reached that station. The fog was so dense that the engineer did not notice the red signal in the tower till after he had passed. He then slowed up and went back for his orders. He then pulled ahead slowly.

The Sleeper Afire.

In the mean time the flagman of No. 9 had gone back to signal No. 7. He has not been heard from since, and it is supposed that he was not able to get back far enough to stop the second section, as the engine of No. 7 came crashing into the Washington sleeper Biscay, telescoping it to the distance of from ten to twelve feet. The sleeper caught fire and was nearly destroyed. The Achetes, the next sleeper, was thrown from the track, but not badly damaged.

The scene following the collision was exciting in the extreme. The passengers became panic stricken, and in their efforts to get out broke the windows and crawled through. As quickly as possible the passengers in the unfortunate Biscay were removed. It was found that two had been killed outright and eleven others more or less seriously injured. At least four of the injured, it is thought, will die. They were conveyed to houses in the vicinity and everything possible done to relieve their sufferings. The uninjured passengers arrived in this city just before noon.

They Jumped for Their Lives.

CHICAGO, Nov. 15.—An accident by which three men were seriously injured occurred at the Archer avenue crossing of the Lake Shore road. A long freight train became stalled, and after delaying traffic for nearly five minutes it was decided to break the train. The engine and several cars were pulled further down the track.

As an Archer avenue street car was about midway between the two sections of the train the engineer without any warning backed up, and the car was caught fairly between the bumpers of two heavily loaded freight cars.

There were several passengers who saw their danger about the same time that the conductor, Thomas Quirk, threw open the door and yelled to them to jump for their lives. All but two—James J. Tracey and Matthew Bolland—escaped. They were caught in the wreck. Tracey received severe contusions on his right side and had his right hand terribly lacerated. Bolland had his right side crushed. Some of his ribs are broken and he has suffered severe internal injuries. The police made a partial investigation, but made no arrests.

Thirty-five Reported Killed.

OMAHA, Neb., Nov. 15.—Train No. 8 on the Union Pacific, due here at 11:25 a. m. Friday, was wrecked near Cheyenne last night. No particulars can be learned here, save it is given out at headquarters that a number of lives were lost. The first section of the western express was detained by the freight wreck near New Florence station. The second section was followed close up, and when the first train pulled out the second was held up in the block to allow the preceding train to get ahead. The third section of the western express came thundering along at a high rate of speed and crashed into the rear car of the second section.

This car is said to have been the Washington sleeper, and was filled with passengers. All of the killed and injured were in this car. A special engine and car, with several physicians on board, were sent from this city to the scene of the wreck immediately after the report reached the city.

A later report says that thirty-five persons were killed.

Many Severely Injured.

JAMAICA, L. I., Nov. 15.—At 7.30 o'clock Friday morning the south side passenger train on the Long Island railway ran into the rear of the market train, which was standing still near the depot here. No one was killed, but a number were severely injured. The list so far as known is as follows:

Martin Seelly, Mineola, leg injured; James Murphy, Roslyn, cut about the head; George Higgs, residence unknown, injured internally; George Mold, a clerk for Wechsler & Abraham, of Brooklyn, cut about the head and face by flying splinters; F. Steward, cut about the face.

Engineer Dimick, who was severely bruised, says he did not see the train ahead of him owing to the fog and received no signal of danger.

This Wreck Claimed Four Victims.

BELLAIRE, O., Nov. 15.—A wreck occurred on the Baltimore and Ohio road at Scott's Cut, three miles west of here, between the second section of No. 21 going west and helper No. 1,002 coming east. John Watson, engineer, and James Fleischer, fireman, who lived in Newark, O., of No. 21, were instantly killed. Thomas Burk was hurt about the head and can't recover. James Barrett, the other fireman, was scalded and died one hour later. Disregarding orders was the cause.

SLAUGHTER OF AN INNOCENT.

A Ten Days Old Body Found in a Bundle, Horribly Butchered.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Policeman Roberts brought to the morgue Friday morning a package which contained the body of a murdered baby. The ghastly bundle was found Thursday night by Deckhand Israel Applegate, of the West Shore railroad ferryboat Oswego, under the seat in the ladies' cabin of the boat. The boat had just left her dock on this side on her 10:30 o'clock trip for Weehawken when the discovery was made.

The keeper of the morgue declared at once that the poor infant had been literally butchered. It was even more than a butchery. The child, which was about 10 days or 2 weeks old, was no doubt kicked and trampled to death, and then hacked to pieces. Its tender flesh and soft bones were one bloody mass. The breast and skull were crushed in, as if they had been stamped upon.

Applegate, the deckhand, after cudgeling his brain, connected two women who were passengers on the last trip over from New Jersey with the horrible find. The women, he said, were closely veiled and fashionably dressed. One of them carried a bundle, which she tried to conceal from view.

The deckhand did not see the women when they left the boat, but he is convinced that the bundle he found was the one they brought aboard. He had looked under the seats on the previous trip, and it was not there then. Applegate saw that an inhuman crime had been committed and he acted promptly. On the arrival of the Oswego in Weehawken he immediately ran to the telegraph office and wired the information, with a description of the women, to the West Forty-seventh street police station.

The sergeant in charge sent Policeman Roberts out to find the women, but by the time he had reached the ferry they had vanished and were probably in a place of safety.

A more complete description of the suspects was obtained Friday morning, and Capt. Killilea detailed Policemen McGinty and Manning on the case to assist Roberts. Applegate thinks he would recognize the women again if he saw them. The police are convinced that the women came from New Jersey, and that the authorities on the other side could aid materially in clearing up the mystery.

In the mean time the body will be buried.

A Justice of the Peace a Perjurer.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Nov. 15.—John Estes, a prominent farmer of Platte county, was arrested, charged with the murder of an unknown man in Platte county four years ago. The information against Estes was filed by John B. Smith, a justice of the peace of that county. It now appears that the charge was a conspiracy to injure Estes. Smith acknowledges that he was forced to make the charges by Tom Moore, who was resting under indictments in the United States court, charged with illegally selling whisky, and Estes was a witness against him. Smith will acknowledge to the prosecuting attorney that he has perjured himself, and will ask the official to show him mercy.

A Heartless Scoundrel.

LIMA, O., Nov. 15.—Ida Elliott a short time ago fell heir to $5,000, and she started for Carthage, Mo., last week to make her home with her grandparents. On the train she met a man who gave his name as William Forbish, and represented himself as being in business at St. Joseph. Upon learning of the girl's possessions he succeeded in getting her to marry him, after which he deserted her and took all of her money, leaving her penniless in St. Joseph.

The Company Censured.

SALEM, Ore., Nov. 15.—The coroner's jury impaneled to inquire into the cause of the death of the persons killed in the accident of the Southern Pacific railway on Wednesday night returned a verdict last night that the accident was the result of an unsound and unsafe bridge, and that the Southern Pacific company is guilty of criminal negligence in allowing such a structure to stand and to be used for the passage of trains.

A Stay for McGonegal.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Nov. 15.—Judge Pratt of the Kings county supreme court, rendered a decision in the application for a stay of proceedings in the case of Dr. McGonegal, convicted of the murder of the girl Annie Goodwin, granting a stay of execution of sentence pending an appeal, and held that the court erred in accepting a juror who had formed an opinion as to the guilt of McGonegal.

Charged with Grand Larceny.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Charles J. Lord, recently the secretary and treasurer of the Granite State Provident association, a building and loan association of New Hampshire, was held for examination charged with grand larceny by Otto Menzel, who swears that he was swindled out of $325 by false pretenses by Lord and others connected with the Granite State company.

Was One of the Old Settlers.

CHICAGO, Nov. 15.—Nathaniel Sawyer of Lake Forest, died in this city of acute pneumonia. He was 67 years of age and one of the oldest settlers. Coming here in 1840, he started on Lake street the first wholesale drug store in this city. The firm name was Sawyer, Page & Co. He leaves a widow and daughter. His brother is the famous Dr. Sidney Sawyer, of Albany, N. Y.

A Western Farmer Missing.

MARTINSVILLE, Ind., Nov. 15.—Jefferson Miller, a prominent and wealthy farmer of Ashton township, this county, is missing. He left home a few days ago with considerable money about him, intending to go to a neighboring county to buy some stock. He has not been heard from since, and fears are entertained that he has met with foul play.

Says He's Been Slandered.

COLUMBUS, Ind., Nov. 15.—P. H. MacCormack has sued his former business partner, P. H. Sweeney, for $40,000, alleging that the latter had circulated slanderous reports about him. Both are well known citizens, MacCormack being a member of the Democratic state central committee.

The Mother Became a Raving Maniac.

WESLEYVILLE, Pa., Nov. 15.—J. Flannigan's baby son, while playing at the stove, caught fire and ran to his mother, her clothing becoming ignited. The child was burned to death, and the mother probably fatally burned before rescued. The latter is now a raving maniac.

THE SERPENT DISASTER.

The Whole Affair Brings Shame Upon the British Admiralty.

THAT CONSUMPTION CURE.

Professor Koch Announces Where the Lymph Matter May Now Be Obtained. The Rabelais Illustrations May Become an International Affair.

LONDON, Nov. 15.—The excitement caused by the loss of the cruiser Serpent and her officers and crew has been increased by the discovery that quite a large number of men deserted the ship just before she sailed, and are now imprisoned awaiting trial. This convincing evidence that the sailors believed the vessel unfit to stand a sea voyage has aroused a storm of indignation against the naval authorities for permitting the trip to be made without having an official survey to determine the seaworthiness of the cruiser.

The commotion at Devonport continues day and night, no rest or sleep being possible for the families and friends of the missing men, who seem to cling desperately to the hope that by some miracle the first accounts of the almost total annihilation of the crew may turn out to have been exaggerated. The newsboys are pounced upon by crowds of dockers, who fairly tear the special editions of the paper from them in their eagerness to learn the latest particulars.

The statement of Admiral Dowell that he considered the Serpent a safe vessel is received with astonishment in the face of his recent official utterances, in which he condemned the whole class of vessels to which the Serpent belonged as faulty in type. Everything about the most unfortunate business seems destined to bring discredit and shame upon the admiralty.

That Consumption Cure.

BERLIN, Nov. 15.—Professor Koch's artical in The Medizinische Wochenblatt is entitled, "Further Communications as to the Cure of Tuberculosis, and Experiments Made by Dr. Libbertz and Staff Surgeon Pruhl in Relation Thereto."

In the article Professor Koch says that he is unable to indicate how the lymph matter is derived and prepared, the work of development being as yet unfinished. He announces, however, that the curative matter is now obtainable at the office of Dr. Libbertz, No. 28 Lueneburger street, Berlin.

It appears in color and composition as a brown transparent liquid, and is so prepared as to be proof against deterioration by contact with the air or otherwise. It is intended to be used as a hypodermic injection, applied by a valveless syringe.

French Citizens Object.

PARIS, Nov. 15.—The seizure by the police of a number of paintings illustrating the works of the world renowned French author Rabelais at an art gallery in Pall Mall, London, is likely to resolve itself into an international question. The English court, it will be remembered, decided that twenty-one of the seized paintings were immoral, and ordered that they be destroyed.

French citizens have an interest in the paintings, and the facts in connection with their seizure and condemnation were laid before the French government, which will endeavor to prevent, through diplomatic channels, the order of the English court for the destruction of the paintings from being carried out.

Driven Into the Sea.

LONDON, Nov. 15.—Advices from Zanzibar state that the sultan's decree abolishing the slave trade is almost a dead letter, the Arabs persisting in the traffic under the very eyes of the authorities. A British cruiser, the Cossack, pursued and captured a slave dhow which had been loaded in open day and run out of Zanzibar under cover of darkness. The Arab crew made some resistance, and one was shot and the others driven into the sea. The slaves were liberated.

Slavin Will Fight Corbett.

LONDON, Nov. 15.—Frank P. Slavin, the Australian champion, has signified his willingness to fight Jim Corbett, of San Francisco, either in England or America for £1,000 a side.

Taking Everything They Could.

PERU, Ind., Nov. 15.—Burglars broke into the establishment of Shink & Millers and stole about $1,200 worth of silks, clothing, jewelry, etc. One of the thieves was caught, and said there was a gang of four professionals from the east who were taking everything they could. Several other robberies have been reported and were doubtless done by these men.

BRIEF MENTION.

The trouble in Honduras continues. Bogran is now reported to be besieging Sanches in Tegucigalpa.

An official statement is made that 173 seamen were lost by the sinking of the British war ship Serpent.

A special cable dispatch from London gives in detail, in his own language, the sworn report of the official interpreter, on which Stanley's charges against Maj. Barttelot and Jameson are based. The narrative bears out all that has been said of Barttelot's cruelty and Jameson's cannibalism.

A forthcoming bulletin of the census bureau will show that three-tenths of the population of the United States live in the cities.

Senator-elect Flinn, of Pittsburg, Pa., was fined $25 for performing worldly labor on the Sabbath, commonly known as Sunday.

Ex-Senator Thurman's seventy-seventh birthday was celebrated by a great gathering of his friends and Democratic leaders at Columbus, including ex-President Cleveland. During his speech at the banquet in the evening Judge Thurman said that he would never again be a candidate for any office.

Dr. Patton, in his report to the Princeton college board of trustees, announced the gift of a $100,000 alumni hall, and a total attendance of 842 students.

E. A. Foster, a prominent business man and newspaper writer of Thompson, Pa., was struck by an Erie train and died in a few hours.

James McKeever, a Western Union lineman at Boston, was struck and killed by the express train which he just saved by removing an obstruction.

THAT DEATH-BED WEDDING.

The Howe-Butterworth Nuptials Bring Out Some Interesting Facts.

Haughwout Howe, who was married n Washington Wednesday, Nov. 5, to Miss Mary Butterworth, daughter of Representative Butterworth, of Ohio, died the next day of pneumonia. This is commonly what is known as a death bed marriage. Mr. Howe had been practicall given up by physicians when the eremony was performed, and the chancs of his recovery were but one in a hndred. He became delirious almo immediately after the minister had ed the knot, and died in great agoy, with his bride of a few hours at is bedside.

Under rcumstances of this kind the marriag ceremony partakes of a sentimenta nd spectacular phase, which naturall attracts wide attention. The law prepposes that only healthy people will e joined in wedlock, and in a scientif state of civilization a union of two pe ons, either of whom was in bad health ould be positively forbidden. The fir license would have to be given by e doctor, and without it the ceremy could not proceed. The ancients cognized the importance of this cideration as a vital factor in the hditary sense, and the Spartans even at so far as to destroy those child who were not physically perfect ae time of birth. Delicate as the sect may be, it is one which shou mmand much closer attention than iety seems disposed to give to it, fo ere can be no question that if more ard were paid to the physical cond of those contemplating matrimon a higher conception of the responities involved were apparent on both es, there would be infinitely less mise n the world.

Sc would demand a guarantee from best professional sources that both ties to the contract were perfect nd, and it would do this, not only behalf of the persons directly coned, but as a protection against the ical decline of the race.

Yere might be circumstances, of cou nder which a so-called death bed riage would be resonably proper or example, it might be just on the assumption that it ld lead to the recovery he patient. There have been cas which the relief of mind exped after the wedding has been so icial as to restore the patient to co e health; but these instances ar paratively rare. For the most parriages which occur within the sh of death are for the gratificati some sentimental notion, or ampted by motives similar to t hich induce a man to make a e probabilities are that in nine out of ten pure sent ment is governing consideration, particu when the ceremony is performed e request of the woman. We are creatures of sentiment but especial women, and there is no time when emotions are brought into more ive play than when summons to the beyond is momentarily expected. hatever may be said, however, in alf of death bed marriages, the fact mains that they do not appeal to the olesome side of human nature. A nic might remark that it is hardly sirable to unnecessarily increase the pply of widows and widowers, but en that view of the case would be scounted when it is remembered that idows and widowers are generally the ost anxious to get married again. Especially is this true of the widowrs. There are 80,000 more widows an widowers in England, and probably the statistics of this country would how a similar ratio.

Even where the widowers again try he married state they do not as a rule eek helpmeets of their own age, nor lo they confine the search to the forlorn creatures who have recently lost heir husbands. Not at all. They sometimes seek girls young enough to sustain to them the relation of daughters.

It is in the sense that the death-bed marriage usually partakes of an element of sensationalism that is chiefly objectionable. Reading of such affairs is well calculated to produce a morbid condition of mind among the young, and there is, moreover, reason to doubt whether such alliances, entered upon under unusual conditions, and on the inspiration of the moment, are not regretted by the survivor in the majority of the cases. If it could be shown that the death bed ceremony would improve a person's chances in the world to come there would be a good deal more to commend it.

CONFIDENCE RETURNING.

But Prices Continue Weak, and the Tendency Is Downward.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Money loaned at much easier rates this morning; the ruling rate was 6. Exchange steady; posted rates, $4.80½@4.86; actual rates, $4.79½@4.79¾ for sixty days, and $4.85 for demand. Governments quiet; currency 6s, 118 bid; 4s, coupons, 122 bid; 4½s, do., 104 bid.

The stock market opened this morning with a little more confidence. This was almost wholly due to the statement of the president of the Farmers' Loan and Trust company and the chairman of the creditors' committee of the North American company, made late yesterday, that the company's collateral would not be forced upon the market. Prices opened weak, however, nearly every stock selling down fractionally. Lackawanna was extensively sold, as was also Pacific Mail. The latter was pressed for sale on some vague rumors. Western Union was an exception to the general weakness, advancing 1¼. The decline in the others at the opening ranged from ⅛ to 2 per cent., the latter in Louisville and Nashville. In the early trading Pacific Mail was weak and dropped 2⅝. Lackawanna fell 2 and Northern Pacific preferred 1¾. The North American company's stock was a feature of the early trading, advancing 1⅛ to 18¾. The rest of the stocks were not very heartily traded in during the first hour. At 11 o'clock prices were generally lower by 1 to 2 per cent. than they closed yesterday.

The market was less active during the hour at noon, but prices continued weak, and in some cases further declines were recorded. In marked contrast with yesterday's activity North American stock was very quiet after the first few minutes from the opening, and was almost entirely neglected in the second hour of business. At the close values are generally weak at about the lowest figures.

THEY APPLIED THE TORCH.

Railroad Strikers Attempt to Destroy a Freight Station.

MANCHESTER, N. H., Nov. 15.—At 12:30 Friday morning advices from Nashua say that the Concord railroad strikers attempted to set fire to the Concord railroad freight station. The intruders broke into the oil room of the depot, bored a hole in the kerosene barrel, sprinkled oil about the premises and applied a torch. The fire was discovered by the night gang in season to prevent the destruction of the buildings.

Members of the night gang saw a man soon after emerge from between freight cars in the yard with a bunch of waste in his hand saturated with oil, and gave chase, but he managed to get away. Assistant Marshal Wheeler was sent for, and the arrest of David Coleman, a striker, followed. Coleman had been at work for the railroad six weeks previous to the strike. He was locked up at the police station and does not deny his guilt. The affair has caused much excitement.

A Quarter of a Million Up in Smoke.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 15.—The large brick building known as the Wertheimer building, corner of Sacramento and Davis streets, was burned last night. The loss is estimated at $250,000, there being much expensive machinery and valuable stock in the building. The latter was owned by S. Wanggheim, and it was occupied by H. Dutard, commission merchant; Devoni & Co., candy manufacturers, and H. Lewes & Co., cigar manufacturers.

Slashed Him from Ear to Ear.

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Nov. 15.—Ramon Barboa, Sesario and Justo Apodaca and others assembled at a liquor store in Los Padillos, a slim Mexican town, and a dispute arose over stealing cards. Apodaca jumped on Barboa, and jabbing a dagger into the left side of his face cut him from ear to ear. The man lived only a few hours. He was a well known Republican politician.

The Jury Disagreed.

BROOKLYN, Nov. 15.—The jury in the case of Asa Waterman, theatrical manager, charged with the murder of Peter Doran, whom he shot in the street while walking with the latter's wife, filed into the court of general sessions and announced their inability to agree upon a verdict. Judge Moore discharged the jury.

Two Reported Killed.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—Rumors have reached here of a disastrous railroad wreck on the Norfolk and Western railroad near Petersburg, Va. It is stated that two persons were killed and a number injured.

Both Are Total Wrecks.

SAN PEDRO, Cal., Nov. 15.—The tug Alert, of San Francisco, and a lighter went ashore at Catalina island during a gale. Both vessels are total wrecks. A sailor named William O'Neil was drowned.

A Big Blaze Agoing.

FARMINGTON, Me., Nov. 15.—A large fire is burning in Phillips around the Sandy river railroad depot. A steamer from here has just gone up on a special train.

A Journalist Dies Suddenly.

TERRORIZED SETTLERS.

Awaiting in Fear and Trembling an Indian Uprising.

REDSKINS HEAVILY ARMED.

They Do About as They Please, and if Interfered with Make Ominous and Terrifying Signs—The People Praying for Military Protection.

MANDAN, N. D., Nov. 19.—Settlers from every direction come in reporting insults received from wandering Indians armed to the teeth, who make circles around the tops of their heads. Citizens of Mandan have practically no arms and are helpless. The entire community is absolutely terrorized. The people have been looking for aid to the government, expecting Indians to come upon them every hour, and no help or sign of help comes. Two Indians went into a hardware store and called for ammunition. The storekeeper asked what they wanted it for, and they said to shoot white men, and they drew imaginary scalping knives around their heads.

A settler named Ardrom comes from ten miles out of town and states that six Indians camped near his place yesterday morning. He told them to be careful of fire. They told him to mind his own business, and ominously tapped their guns, showed their ammunition and encircled their heads with knives. This was a warning that if he interfered with them he would be scalped.

The same Indians were in town in the afternoon and they told a friendly Sioux who lives here that they belonged to the army of the Messiah, were going down to the reservation to meet the balance of the army, and they were coming back to take Fort Lincoln and then to burn and pillage Mandan and kill the inhabitants.

They said the Messiah would lead the army, and do not expect to go out till spring; but when the Messiah says go they will go, even if in the depth of winter. They said they believe they are the chosen people of Messiah; whites are intruders, and the entire country west of the Missouri to the coast belongs to them and the buffalo, and when the whites are killed they will own it all.

Armed for Business.

These and all other Indians traveling through the country are armed in an extraordinary way and loaded down with ammunition; but of late they have become insolent, morose and sullen. They will not show the passes they are supposed to have from the Indian agency. Nothing but the immediate appearance of troops will prevent an uprising, in the judgment of old Indian fighters.

The utmost tension prevails here, as it is impossible to hear from Standing Rock as to the situation there or from the east to learn what is being done about the movement of troops. Half of the population believe the troops will come when the people have all been killed and scalped. A number of women and children have left on last night's train for Bismarck and other points east of the Missouri. Superintendent Mellen, of the Northern Pacific, has been telegraphed by citizens, asking him to do all he can to get the military department to take immediate action.

Last night a rumor came from Standing Rock to Bismarck to the effect that a large body of warriors had left Standing Rock for the Northern Pacific. It has been impossible to get confirmation or denial of the rumor. Efforts have been made to telegraph Maj. McLaughlin at Yates. Messages have been delivered to him, but no reply has been received.

Gen. Miles Interviewed.

CHICAGO, Nov. 19.—Gen. Nelson A. Miles, whose department embraces the territory throughout which the Messiah crazed Indians are scattered, expresses himself thus guardedly about the rumors of an impending Indian outbreak: "Anything I might say would be telegraphed all over the country, and to-morrow would be known in the Indian camps.

"The Indians now have young men who read English perfectly, and they no longer depend upon runners to take news from camp to camp. They utilize the mails and keep posted with regard to current events affecting their interests. I have nothing to say beyond the fact that the situation is very serious, and that there is reason for grave apprehension of trouble with the Indians of the plains between the Missouri river and the mountains."

"In what locality is the disaffection greatest?"

"It is not graver in one place than in another," said Gen. Miles, "but it is serious among the different Sioux camps, numbering 27,000 men; the Arapahoes, Cheyennes, Shoshones and the Comanches."

"Can you say anything of your consultation with Secretary Proctor as to the steps necessary to be taken by the government?"

"Certainly not; that is just the matter about which it would be most imprudent to speak."

Organizing for Protection.

BISMARCK, N. D., Nov. 19.—The citizens of Mandan organized for protection against the Sioux Indians. A telegram was sent to Governor Miller, asking for arms and ammunition, and he has given instructions to the adjutant general to use his discretion. A dispatch was also received from the sheriff of Morton county, stating that the government could not, or would not, protect the settlers in the southern part of the country against the depredations which the Indians of Standing Rock agency are committing, and calling on the governor for troops.

Ordered to Be in Readiness.

CHEYENNE, Wy. T., Nov. 19.—Orders were received at Fort Russell last night to have seven companies of infantry with the lieutenant colonel, major and line officers, under orders to move at a moment's notice. There are no Indian troubles in Wyoming, and the destination of the troops ordered out is unknown, but is supposed to be Dakota.

Bitter Against the President.

WICHITA, Kan., Nov. 19.—D. W. Morgan, a prominent member of the Cherokee Strip Live Stock association, arrived from the strip and reports that all cattle will positively be out of the strip by the first of next month in obedience to the president's order. He further adds that the cattle men are bitter in their denunciation of President Harrison for the unfair manner in which they have been treated.

Physicians heartily endorse the use of Speer's celebrated Port Grape Wine for the use of debilitated females. It is not an intoxicant, and is absolutely pure, being made from grapes grown at Mr. Speer's Mount Prospect Vineyards, Passaic, N. J., from vines imported from the port wine districts of Portugal. Druggists sell it.

—And now the Borough Council intends buying a lot and erecting a new hose house and council chamber with the lock up and police headquarters attached. This is a business council that Bellefonte has now.

The right way to cure catarrh is to eradicate the poisonous taint which causes the disease, by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla.

—One man was arrested on Tuesday evening at the opera house for disorderly conduct. He was locked up, but his camrades, the puddlers, paid his fine of $2.50 and got him out. Manager Garman ought to appoint a special officer to keep peace in the lobby and in the gallery. There is getting to be a little too much rowdyism in those parts of the house and it should be stopped at once.

Not a Senatorial Candidate.

LACROSSE, Wis., Nov. 19.—Gilbert M. Woodward, of this city, authorizes the statement that he is not a candidate for the United States senate. This announcement is made necessary by the fact that his friends throughout western Wisconsin, and in fact all over the state, have been anxious that he should permit them to urge his claims for that honor. His reasons for declining the use of his name are of a personal nature that cannot be questioned.

He Was One of the James Gang.

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 19.—Dick Liddell, who was shot at Gloucester, N. J., race track Saturday by a trainer named Purcell, was a member of the James gang, and is said to have been in several of the most desperate raids made by them. He was never prosecuted for robbery, and turned state's evidence during the closing days of the existence of the gang. Four years ago Liddell purchased some race horses and has been engaged in racing since.

To Erase Parnell's Name.

EDINBURGH, Nov. 19.—In the town council notice has been given of a motion to remove the name of Charles Stewart Parnell from the burgess roll.

A Man Cut in Two.

HUNTINGDON, Ind., Nov. 19.—Conductor Samuel L. Adams, who was running a gravel train on the Chicago and Erie at Kenton, fell between the cars while making a coupling and a gravel car passed over his chest, cutting him in two and instantly killing him.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury.

As mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, and acts directly upon the blood and mucuous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine: It is taken internally, and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co.

Sold by druggists, 75cts per bottle.

—A special feature at the play this evening will be the introduction of new songs by Mr. Harlan, who is one of the finest tenor singers in the State. It will be worth the price of admittance to hear him. This will probably be the only night he will sing on the stage and if you don't go to night you miss a treat. # THE PARNELL SCANDAL.

Ireland's Great Leader the Subject of Much Discussion.

WILL HE WED MRS. O'SHEA

London Rumors Say That He Will—His Name Cheered to the Echo by the Irish National Leaguers—He Is Getting Lots of Advice.

DUBLIN, Nov. 19.—The Irish National league met Tuesday, with Hon. Edmund Leamy, M. P., for the southern division of Sligo, presiding. Mr. Leamy, on taking the chair, said that Mr. Parnell was the chosen leader of the Irish people and that they would stand by him as long as he stood by them. He would lead the champions of Ireland in the parliamentary combats of the future, and it would be shown that now, in the hour of his severe trial, his countrymen were more than ever devoted to him as their political leader.

Hon. John E. Redmond, M. P. for the southern division of Wexford, in addressing the league ridiculed the idea that matters strictly germane to his private life could prejudice Mr. Parnell in his public character. His colleagues were bound to their illustrious leader by ties of never failing loyalty to the common and patriotic cause. Never, declared the speaker, during the whole of his great career was Ireland more resolutely determined to stand by Parnell. Enthusiastic cheers punctuated Mr. Redmond's fervid address.

Hon. Matthew J. Kenny, M. P. for the middle division of Tyrone, and other distinguished Irishmen identified with the national movement, made addresses laudatory of the patriotism and ability of the Irish parliamentary chieftain.

Scored by The Standard.

LONDON, Nov. 19.—The Standard, commenting on the O'Shea divorce case, says: "Mr. Parnell seems to have been actuated by no desire to save the lady's reputation. All sorts of shabby, pitiful devices were adopted to avoid detection by the husband. The whole story is low, despicable and disgraceful, with no redeeming feature and nothing to justify the indulgence which has sometimes been extended to public men who have known how to invest their vices with a glamour of the grand.

"All the Gladstonians will court moral destruction if they continue even in political intimacy with Mr. Parnell." The Standard understands that Mr. Parnell has definitely intimated his intention to retain the leadership of the Irish party. It is expected that the Irish bishops will protest if he does not retire.

The Times' Comment.

The Times says: "The whole squalid apparatus of misleading letters, disguises, aliases and sudden flights make a story of dull and ignoble infidelity, untouched, so far as can be seen, by a single ray of sentiment or a single flash of passion. If, as it appears, Mr. Parnell intends to remain the leader of his party he will place the Gladstonians in a grievous dilemma."

The Evening News says that the "Uncrowned King" has been crowned with infamy.

The Star (T. P. O'Connor's paper) says that the home rule compact was made between nations, not between persons, and will stand.

What The Freeman's Journal Says.

DUBLIN, Nov. 19.—The Freeman's Journal recalls the private lives of the Duke of Wellington, Lord Nelson, Lord Palmerston and a number of other prominent personages who, it says, in their time were the subjects of scandals similar to that in which Mr. Parnell is now involved. The Journal says that "the gabble about the social ostracism to which Mr. Parnell will be subjected is absurd, because he never went into society. The pastors charged with his moral well being are not the pastors of the majority of the Irish people.

"It is neither our duty nor our province to adjudge his private life, nor to examine his conscience. Ireland's business with him is entirely of a political nature. He has ably, faithfully and successfully served the country, and has brought her out of bondage and led her to within sight of the promised land. A juncture has now been reached where there can be no swapping or changing of leaders. It is imperative that Mr. Parnell continue as leader of the Irish parliamentary party."

Some London Rumors.

LONDON, Nov. 19.—It is rumored here that Mr. Parnell has definitely decided to retire from the leadership of the Irish party, and that as soon as the law permits he will be married to the divorced wife of Capt. O'Shea. If Mr. Parnell abandons the leadership it is understood that his successor will enjoy the benefit of his continuous advice.

In the meantime it is undeniable that the excessive virulence of the Tory editorials is causing a reaction in public sentiment with regard to Mr. Parnell in connection with recent events.

Minnie Palmer has left Mr Rogers her husband. She says he attempted to kill her. He says the trouble was caused by his mother-in-law.

THE FINANCIAL SITUATION.

Another Bank Failure—The News from London Not So Bright.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—The announcement of the suspension of the well known firm of P. W. Gallaudet & Co. was made Tuesday morning. This adds one more to the rapidly increasing list of failures growing out of the recent excitement in the stock and money markets.

The effect of the failure of Gallaudet & Co. upon the money and stock markets will not be important. The firm was, however, a large one. Its offices are in the United Bank building, 2 and 4 Wall street, at the corner of Broadway. The news of the failure was not altogether a surprise to the street. Rumors that the firm was in a shaky condition have been current for some time past, and many expected its failure.

The application for the appointment of a receiver for the North River bank came up before Judge O'Brien in the supreme court. Assistant Attorney General Poste told the judge that the attorney general had begun a suit for the dissolution of the bank corporation and for the appointment of a receiver. He would ask the court to grant an order to show cause, returnable forthwith, for the appointment of a receiver pending the suit and an injunction against the directors. Judge O'Brien asked if the bank consented to the order. After learning that it did the judge signed the order, which had been prepared beforehand, and copies were immediately served on counsel for the creditors.

News from London Tuesday was not quite so reassuring as Monday's, although no more trouble is anticipated. The money market was reported to be in feverish condition. Provincial bankers were said to be withdrawing their credits, and the Bank of England was doing a heavy business at 7 per cent. The guarantee fund to the Baring Bros. was said to have reached £15,000,000. Prices for all sorts of securities in London were weaker, although Americans were not much below yesterday's closing in New York. London's confidence has been so severely shaken that its recovery must be slow.

Went Down with the Bridge.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 19.—About 6 a. m. as a freight train loaded with hogs and grain was crossing the bridge over the Kaw river, in this city, on the Kansas City, Wyandotte and Northwestern railway, one span of the bridge gave way and precipitated five cars into the river, thirty feet below. A colored man named Allen Moore, who was stealing a ride, was killed. Fireman Fred Allen, of Lawrence, who went down with the engine, is under the wreck and probably killed. Engineer F. H. Patch jumped and was fatally injured by falling timbers and iron. Brakemen Thomas Milligan and D. H. Whitepatch were severely but not fatally bruised. Conductor Herald was slightly bruised on the head and shoulders. About 100 head of hogs were drowned.

A Cool Piece of Thievery.

CHICAGO, Nov. 19.—Thieves drove away with a wagon load of ready made clothing valued at $2,000 and made good their escape. Charles Vanderbilt, a tailor, drove up to Cohn, Walmbold & Co.'s wholesale clothing establishment, Monroe street. In the wagon were 2,500 coats and a number of vests. Vanderbilt hitched the horse to the curb and went inside to transact some business. He was gone about half an hour, and when he returned the horse and wagon with its contents were missing. There is no clew to the thieves.

Lost Money on the Contract.

LA PORTE, Ind., Nov. 19.—Henry Goodman, of the La Porte Publishing company, publishers of The La Porte Journal, made a bill of sale of the concern to ex-County Treasurer W. A. Martin to secure the latter for money loaned. Goodman has for years been filling a large government contract for money order application blanks for the postoffice department and has lost money on the contract. Unsecured creditors are left in the lurch; liabilities and assets as yet unknown.

KNOCKED ALL OVER THE RING.

Kessler Gives La Blanche an Awful Drubbing and Wins on a Foul.

BUTTE, Mon., Nov. 19.—George La Blanche, the marine, and George Kessler fought thirteen rounds at the race track here in the presence of 500 people. Both men are middle weights, the former holding the middle weight championship. Kessler had the best of the fighting all the way through. He opened the first round by landing on La Blanche's neck. The latter made a rush, but Kessler cleverly evaded his blows, and in return got in a terrific left hander on La Blanche's cheek. At the close of the round La Blanche landed heavily on Kessler's neck and mouth.

Kessler had the best of the second and third rounds. In the fourth there was but little execution, but in the fifth La Blanche got in several hard blows. Kessler rallied in the next round and made it hot for his opponent. In the seventh La Blanche forced the fighting and threw Kessler to the ground. A stinging blow on La Blanche's mouth in the eighth round drew first blood, which was awarded to Kessler. Kessler was knocked off his feet in the tenth, and first knock down was allowed La Blanche.

Kessler knocked La Blanche all over the ring in the eleventh round. To avoid punishment he clinched Kessler several times. Kessler had the best of the twelfth round. In the thirteenth Kessler knocked his opponent across the ropes five different times. After the fifth time La Blanche kicked Kessler on the stomach. The men then clinched and would not break. Kessler threw La Blanche through the ropes. He landed on his head and arms outside the ring. The fight was awarded Kessler. La Blanche evidently fouled Kessler to avoid being knocked out.

He'll Go to Prison for Life.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 19.—Edward Assman, who was sentenced to be hanged here six months ago for the murder of Bertha Elff, but who secured a new trial and went to Johnson county on a change of venue, was yesterday sentenced on a plea of guilty to the penitentiary for life. Aszman was refused by Miss Elff, when he murdered her and tried to kill himself.

A Scarlet Fever Scare.

MARSHALL, Ills., Nov. 19.—The public schools in this city have been ordered closed for the entire week on account of the scarlet fever scare. One death has resulted from the disease, and there are several other cases, some of them serious.

A Bank Robbed.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 1.—The Credit bank at Dunaburg, Russia, has been robbed of securities valued at 130,000 rubles. It is believed that the thieves escaped to London.

"WELL BRED SOON WED."
Girls who use SAPOLIO are QUICKLY MARRIED.
SAPOLIO is one of the best known city luxuries and each time a cake is used an hour is saved. On floors, tables and painted work it acts like a charm. For scouring pots, pans and metals it has no equal. If your store-keeper does not keep it you should insist upon his doing so, as it always gives satisfaction and its immense sale all over the United States makes it an almost necessary article to any well supplied store. Everything shines after its use, and even the children delight in using it in their attempts to help around the house.

Scrofula

Is the most ancient and most general of all diseases. Scarcely a family is entirely free from it, while thousands everywhere are its suffering slaves. Hood's Sarsaparilla has had remarkable success in curing every form of scrofula. The most severe and painful running sores, swellings in the neck or goitre, humor in the eyes, causing partial or total blindness, yield to the powerful effects of this medicine. It thoroughly removes every trace of impurity from the blood and builds up the weakened system.

"My little daughter's life was saved, as we believe, by Hood's Sarsaparilla. Before she was six months old she had 7 running scrofula sores. One physician advised the amputation of one of her fingers, to which we refused assent. When we began giving her Hood's Sarsaparilla, a marked improvement was noticed and by a continued use of it her recovery was complete. And she is now, being seven years old, strong and healthy." B. FORTIFY THE SYSTEM WITH Brown's Sarsaparilla

People having rheumatic, or consumptive tendencies, should heed the advice herein given. Their painful and dangerous diseases arise wholly from impure blood, causing a weakening of the system; are fed, and held in the system by impure blood, and cannot be driven out until the blood shall have been cleared. When this shall have been effected nature will do the rest, and the days and nights of torture will be unknown.

Alike are the young, middle aged and older people swept from the face of the earth by thousands each year by these diseases, and there has never been known so powerful a preventive to such devastations, as is found in that great remedial agent,

LOVE HURT HIS LIVER.

How a Fakir Turned the Tables on a Farmer.

N. Y. Sun.

A fakir in machines had just opened out in St. Thomas when a sturdy young farmer pushed his way into the crowd and said :

See here, mister man, you were over at Clifton in June ?

Yes, sir.

You were selling this same stuff ?

I was.

Warranted to cure rheumatism, neuralgia, headache, ague, bad liver, indigestion, and about 40 other things ?

Yes, sir; I guarantee it.

I had a torpid liver. We went to three different doctors, and all of 'em said she was torpid. I paid you a dollar for a bottle.

Well.

Well, she didn't cure, Didn't have no more effect than water. I want my money back.

Gentlemen ! exclaimed the fakir, as he looked around on the crowd, you have heard what this man said. He calls my South American elixir a 'fraud' because it didn't cure his liver trouble."

No, it didn't ! shouted the farmer.

Then, let us see why. Did you eat pork ?

No, sir.

Sleep on a feather bed ?

o, sir.

Drink tea or coffee.

Go, sir.

Take plenty of exercise.

Yes sir.

Have a bath once or twice a week ?

Yes, sir.

Go to bed early ?

Yes, sir.

Now, then, my friend, answer me one more questson. What was the state of your mind while taking the elixir ?

P—purty fair.

Weren't you engaged to a girl ?

Y—yes. sir.

She—he married another man, stammered the farmer, as he tried to get out of the crowd.

Ah ! I knew it ! Gentlemen, behold the conspirator—the assassin—the shylock ! He is in love. His liver is torpid. He buys a bottle of my elixir. It is warranted to straighten the kinks out of a torpid liver at the rate of 40 kinks an hour; but does he give it a fair show ? No, gentlemen ! This fiend in human form pursues his fair victim. He offers her his heart, but she won't have it. He persists. She still refuses. He finally loses her. Emotion bangs his liver from port to starboard—adds to the number of kinks—wobbles all over Ontario, and then he calls me a swindler because I haven't cured him. Grntlemen, who is the swindler—the arch fiend?

The crowd cheered him again and again, while the farmer made all haste to get out of sight, and after peace had been restored the fakir held up one of the bottles and said ;

"Now, then, who takes the first bottle ? Compounded by a South American hermit from herbs and roots grown in a mysterious valley, and I'll give $100 for any complaint it won't cure.

"This is my 23d farewell tour, and the sales have been 40,000, bottles. Patented in every country on earth and the recipient of 64 royal decorations. Only $1 a bottle, and who takes the first ?"

Remarkable Rescue.

Mrs. Michael Curtain, Plainfield, Ill. makes the statement that she caught cold, which settled on her lungs; she was treated for a month by her family physician, but grew worse. He told us she was a hopeless victim of consumption and that no medicine cure her. Her druggist suggested Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, she bought a bottle and found herself benefitted from first dose, She continued its use and after taking ten bottles, found herself sound and well, now does her own housework and is as well as she ever was.—Free trial bottles of this Great Discovery Keplinger's Drug Store, large bottles 50c and $100.

What His Father Would Have Done.

[Sheffield Telegraph.]

A story was told of a young Irish officer, who, while dining at a banquet in connection with some great military display, was grossly insulted by a supercilious young Cockney officer, who contemptuously alluded to him as a "verdant bog-trotter." The young fellow rose in his place like a shot, and dashed a glass of wine full in the face of his insulter, who sat directly opposite him.

A grizzled old Colonel who chanced to be sitting next to the spirited young Hibernian, and who had been a quiet spectator of the incident, gave him an approving pat on the back, and exclaimed, encouragingly :

"First rate, my boy, first rate ; but if t had been your dear father, who is in heaven, he would have let the miserable puppy have the decanter."

Arrested at Toronto.

Some few weeks ago at Tyrone an Italian named Mike Sullivan made up a story saying that his parents were starving in Italy and, on the plea that he wanted to aid them, succeeded in borrowing money from almost every man in the camp. He then took Tony Bollozzo, a companion, and together they left the country with the money borrowed. Search was immediately made for them and they were found at Toronto, Canada, where Sullivan had started a store. A warrant was issued for them and yesterday they were arrested.

He Was Staggered.

"I remember a negro in the Southern States some years ago," ais the old soldier as he rested his war-worn frame in a chair at the Monongahela House. "He was an old man, and when tired sunning himself on a log in the laneway he was accustomed to retire to the shade and doze. He had a class of 20 or so little boys to whom he used to give Bible lessons, generally on Sunday afternoon.

It was his practice to give out on one Sunday the lessons to be prepared for the next. The old fellow was a little blind and a good bit deaf, and this fact induced the young fellows to put up a joke on him. In the old boy's absence they glued two pages of the Bible together, and on the following Sunday sat expectant of how the thing would work. The old tutor put on his 'specs,' and giving a sympathetic glance at his class opened the Bible at the passage about Noah's ark and began to read.

"He spelled out the lesson to the end of the page, 'and Noah took with him into the ark one of every kind,' and so on, and one wife,' and turning over, continued, 'she was 145 cubits long and 50 wide, built entirely of cypress wood, and pitched inside and out.'

" 'Foh de Lawd's sake ! What a woman !' exclaimed the old darkey, glancing wonderingly over the book at his grinning class. He paused and pondered over the wonderful dimensions of Noah's wife for many minutes, and then said :

" 'Boys, we musn't doubt anything the book says, but take it as the other passage furder on, which says : "We are fearfully and wonderfully made."

"Hello ! Tom. Glad to see you, old fellow ! It's almost ten years since we were married. Sit down: let's have an experience meeting. How's the wife ?"

"Oh ! she's so-so, same as usual,—always wanting something I can't afford."

"Well, we all want something more than we've got. Don't you ?"

"Yes: but I guess 'want will be my master.' I started to keep down expenses; and now Lil says I'm 'mean,' and she's tired of saving and never having anything to show for it. I saw your wife down street, and she looked as happy as a queen !"

"I think she is ; and we are economical, too,—have to be. My wife can make a little go further than anyone I ever knew, yet she's always surprising me with some dainty contrivance that adds to the comfort and beauty of our little home, and she's always 'merry as a lark.' When I ask how she manages it, she always laughs and says: 'Oh ! that's my secret !' But I think I've discovered her 'secret.' When we married, we both knew we should have to be very careful, but she made one condition: she would have her Magazine. And she was right ! I wouldn't do without it myself for double the subscription price. We read it together, from the title-page to the last word : the stories keep our hearts young ; the synopsis of important events and scientific matters keeps me posted so that I can talk understandingly of what is going on ; my wife is always trying some new idea from the household department ; she makes all her dresses and those for the children, and she gets all her patterns for nothing, with the Magazine ; and we saved Joe when he was so sick with the croup, by doing just as directed in the Sanitarian Department. But I can't tell you half!"

"What wonderful Magazine is it ?"

"Demorest's Family Magazine, and—"

"What ! Why that's what Lil wanted so bad, and I told her it was an extravagance."

"Well, my friend, that's where you made a grand mistake, and one you'd better rectify as soon as you can. I'll take your 'sub.' right here, on my wife's account: she's bound to have a china tea-set in time for our tin wedding next month. My gold watch was the premium I got for getting up a club. Here's a copy, with the new Premium List for clubs,—the biggest thing out! If you don't see in it what you want, you've only to write to the publisher and tell him what you want, whether it is a tack-hammer or a new carriage, and he will make special terms for you, either for a club, or for part cash. Better subscribe right off and surprise Mrs. Tom. Only $2.00 a year—will save fifty times that in six months. Or send 10 cents direct to the publisher, W. Jennings Demorest, 15 East 14th Street, New York for a specimen copy containing the Premium List."

GRAFTING ON FROG SKINS

A Colored Man in Georgia to be Given a New Amphibian Cuticle.

Macon [Ga.] Special to Philadelphia Press.

An accident of a painful and remarkabe character happened to Madison Green, a colored workman at the Macon Agricultural Works, recently. Probably nothing like it ever occurred in Macon before.

Green was standing in front of an emery wheel, which was making 1,500 revolutions a minute. He got too near the whizzing shaft, and it caught in his clothing. Before he could get away several things had happened. The end of the shaft, going at a frightful speed, instantly gathered a wad of his shirt and twisted it from his body; then it grabbed his trousers and treated them likewise, and he fell to the floor covered with blood,

A hasty examination of the man's bleeding body showed that a portion had been entirely denuded of skin, leaving great patches of raw flesh.

In places there was not a vestige of skin, and here and there only a few shreds of the torn hide of the unfortunate calored man were left. The flayed portion was large enough to make it a serious matter, and he suffered intensely while being conveyed to his home

Dr. N. Walker was sent for and dressed the wound as well as he could at the time. This was a case that required more than ordinary surgical skill, and Dr. Walker saw that special treatment was necessary,

Being greatly versed in the latest methods of skin grafting, Dr. Walker will have, in this case, a good opprotunity to test his skill in that line, Such large patches of skin that were raked off are too intensive to granulate and cicatrize, as in the case of smaller wounds of this sort. Artificial skin must be supplied in some way, and the only question is as to the kind of skin to be used for this purpose,

Recently the newspapers told of a man who fell into a vat of scalding water and was literally skinned alive, His life was saved by being plastered with the skins taken from fresh frogs, which united with the flesh and healed over beautifully, not even leaving a scar.

This method is to cut the frog skin into little pieces about one-eight of an inch square and carefully distribute them like minature paving blocks over the raw surface of the flesh. If the frogs are perfectly fresh and in good health the skin nearly always takes hold nicely and soon grows perfectly smooth and soft, with all the color and sensitiveness of the original:

Thanksgiving.

The President has issued a proclamation designating Thursday, November 27, asa day of Thanksgiving. The proclamation reads as follows:

By the grace and favor of the Almighty God the people of this nation have been led to the closing days of the passing year, which has been full of the the blessings of peace and comforts of plenty. Bountiful compensations has come to us for the work of our minds and our hands in every department of human industry.

Now, therefore, I, Benjamin Harrison, President of the United States of America do hereby appoint Thursday, the 27th day of the present month of November, to be observed as a day of prayer and thanksgiving; and I do invite the people upon that day to cease from their labors to meet in their accustomed houses of worship and to join in rendering gratitude and praise to our benificent Creater for the rich blessings He has granted to us as a nation, and invoking the continuance of His protection and grace for the future. I commend to my fellow citizens the privilege of remembering the poor, the homeless and the sorrowful. Let us endeavor to merit the cherished recompense of charity and the gracious acceptance of our praise.

BENJAMIN HARRISON.

Good Sugar.

There has been received at this office a sample box of granulated sugar made from beets at the new beet sugar factory at Grand Island, Nebraska. The sugar was of the finest quality—being about 99 per cent. pure. The only thing we found against it was that the box was entirely too small—it only weighed two ounces; they should have sent us a box of 50 or 100 pounds by express prepaid and then we could have told more about it. As it is all we can say is that the circular accompanying the sugar gives a full description of the factory which seems to be a mammoth one, having an output of 275 barrels of granulated sugar every 24 hours. For this it requires 350 tons of beets. The company is a chartered one with a capital of one million dollars. We wish them success. Send us more sugar,

Bellefonte's Fire Steamer.

We have been requested by the Committee of the Logan Hose Company, that has the purchasing of the fire steamer for Bellefonte, to say that they will start out on Monday morning to make a final and they hope full collection of all funds subscribed for that purpose. The steamer purchased will be shipped on or shortly after December first and it is the desire to have the money on hand to promptly meet the first payment. Therefore let every man who has subscribed toward the steamer be ready on Monday to pay his subscription.

Baptist Ministers.

The annual meeting of the ministers' conference of Central Baptist association met at Port Matilda on Tuesday, Nov. 11, at 7.30 p. m. Rev. N. C. Nailor, president of the conference, led the devotional exercises and Rev. E. C. Houck preached a sermon from John iii, 19.

Wednesday morning the devotional session was led by Rev. S T Forgeous, and was a delightful service. Rev. D J R Strayer read a paper on "What are the Duties of Pastors in Meeting the Roman Catholics' Attitude Toward Our Public Schools?" The writer defined public schools as a creature and creation of the state, and because of this pastors, as pastors, are not to know the public school, because it is a civil institution: Revs: S F Forgeous, T B Cross, A J Furman, Owen James and E C Houck, took part in the discussion, which was very interesting.

The afternoon session was opened with a delightful devotional service led by Rev C H Fitzwilliam. The subject, 'Revivals' was opened by a paper from G W Downing on a revival defined. Rev O R Thomas read a paper on how to promote revivals and how to conduct revivals, by Rev A J Freeman. These were intensely vigorous papers, very suggestive and helpful on this one all important question. Owen James read a paper on 'Luke's account of the instituting of Christianity,' this was a fresh, able and instructive paper. This paper was discussed by Rev. Mr Hayden, Rev A J Freeman and others.

A prayer on 'The Duty of our Churches Toward Denominational Institutions,' by Rev J T Bradford, was read by Rev S F Forgeous. C H Fitzwilliam gave an address on 'The Pastor Among His People.'

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Rev D S R Strayer, president; Revs E C Houck and F L Bardens, vice presidents; Rev S F Forgeuos, secretary and treasurer.

The next session is held with the church at Everett.

"Daily News"-lings.

Those conscientious republicans who entertained such an imaginative horror of republican bossism, by voting for Pattison placed themselves under the bosship of N. Y. Tammany Hall. "Out of the pot into the fire."

The tariff went into effect sooner than practical politicians expected.

We are as quick to revile a leader who loses as to praise one who wins. The lion of to-day may be the mouse of tomorrow.

It is said that a western newspaper man has lost millions in the present money market stringency. Don't believe it; no newspaper man ever had half that much. It was probably the circulation editor that started that story.

The design in the silver dollar is to be improved; but the chances to get it will be just the same.

Sauer-kraut and potatoes will be the chief articles of diet this winter. The woman that is able to make apple butter belongs to the aristocracy and won't associate with the common class.

Senate and Congress—Official.

Tuesday being the day for the meeting of the Senatorial and Congressional Return Judges to compute the vote and majorities in the various districts that duty was performed according to law. This is the 34th Senatorial district and the judges met at Bellefonte in the Court House. The following is the full vote cast:

The official returns from this Congressional District have not yet been received,

From San Franciso comes the news that a Chinaman, Wong Ching Wah, has constructed a telephone which is superior to any in existence, and which, avoids, so it is asserted, any infringement on the Bell patent. Details are not forthcoming at present.

Thanksgiving Day.

Governor Beaver has issued a proclamation which coincides with that of President Harrison in recommending Thursday, the 27th instant, as a day of Thanksgiving and praise. Now get your turkeys ready.

The oak tree is often struck by lightening, the beech very seldom. A curious scientist discovers the reason of this to lie in the fact that villous leaves, like those of the Beech, seem to prevent the accumulation of electricity, while smooth leaves like the oak's, do not.

—An impudent editor profounds the following query and answer: "Why is a fashionable woman like a Thanksgiving turkey stuffed with oysters and served with wine sauce?" Because the dressing costs more than the anatomy."

—The Lock Haven mail carriers have been promoted from third to second class carriers with an increase of salary to $850 per year. What's the matter with the Bellefonte carriers?

A LEVEL HEAD.

The Advantage of Presence of Mind in an Emergency.

During a late strike on the New York Central Railroad, the militia were ordered to be in readiness in case of a riot, but they were not called out.

In an interview, Gov. Beaver said the troops were not to be called upon except in case of an emergency. The emergency had not arisen, therefore they would not be ordered out. He remarked that this was the first great strike with which he had experience, and he did not propose to lose his head; the only point at which there had been serious trouble was at Syracuse, and there a deputy-sheriff had lost his head; and precipitated an encounter.

The strike continued several weeks, and there was riotous action at several points along the road, but the civil authorities were able to cope with it without calling on the militia.

The test of man's real ability comes when an emergency arises which makes a hasty call on his judgment and discretion. The man who retains his presence of mind maintains his equipoise and exercises sound discretion at such critical junctures, is to be relied on and will pe put to the front.

Men with level heads have the staying qualities which do not falter in the face of danger. Otis A. Cole, of Kinsman, O., June 10, 1890, writes: "In the fall of 1880 I was feeling very ill. I consulted a doctor and he said I had Bright's disease of the kidneys and that he would not stand in my shoes for the state of Ohio." But he did not lose courage or give up; he says: "I saw the testimonial of Mr. John Coleman, 100 Gregory St., New Haven, Conn., and I wrote to him. In due time I received an answer, stating that the testimonial that he [illegible] genuine and not overdrawn in any particular. I took a great many bottles of Warner's Safe Cure; have not taken any for one year."

Gov. Hill is accounted a very successful man; he is cool and calculating and belongs to the class that do not lose their heads when emergencies arise.

Demorest's Magazine.

"A Merry Christmas"! is the cheery greeting shining from every page of that ideal monthly, Demorest's Family Magazine, the December number of which—a genuine holiday number—is just at hand. What one will not know about preparing for Christmas, about trimming the tree and suitable gifts and good cheer and how to heartily enjoy the merry Christmas-tide, after reading this charming Magazine, is not worth knowing. "Lighting the way for Santa Claus" is the very appropriate introductory water color, the rich humor of which will be highly appreciated by the little ones and "children of a larger growth" as well; and the page engraving that follows 'Raphael Painting the Virgin and child. is from a noted painting, and will be appreciated for its historic value as well as its beauty. Besides these, there are at least two hundred and fifty other handsome illustrations, for this representative Family Magazine is noted for the quantity and good quality of its pictures.

"In the Streets of Paris" is a profusely illustrated article, in reading which one is in fancy transported to that charming city; and if one prefers to visit nearer home, the description and exquisite pictures of the Washington residence of Senator Sawyer of Wisconsin, afford a revelation of beauty. There are splendid stories and poems, and every Department is brimful of just what you want to know in its special line. Sanitarian' treats of that sad affliction "Obesity," and the common-sense treatment recommended is bound to be efficacious; and 'Our Girls' will be delighted with their comedietta in their special Department. But our advice is, subscribe for this splendid Magazine, and you can have a rare treat each month It is only $2 a year, and is published by W. JENNINGS DEMOREST, 15 East 14th Street, New York.

School Report,

Following is the report of the Cherry Grove school: Number of scholars present during month ending October 31—males 17, females 28, total 45. Scholars who did not miss a day were Ella Comly, Nina Lindinmuth, Hannah Hall, Adda Scholl, Alice Comly, Anna Gates Olia Davidson, Clara Davidson, Susan Davidson, Harriet Hall, Alexander Davidson, Homer Hall. Those who missed but one day were Julia Davidson, Robert and George Hall.

DORA G. WHITE, Teacher.

—We have thus far omitted to mention the fact that J. Miles Kephart and wife are visiting friends in Pittsburgh and Allegheny. While out there Mr Kephart will likely go to see his cousin Matthew Stanley Quay, and the latter will likely explain to Mr. K. just why, how and so, the late election went as it did.

—Mr. Sam C. Miller, representing Waite's Comedy Company, was in Bellefonte to-day making arrangements for the appearance of his company in Garman's opera house, this place, next week. The company will be here all week and introduce some new and very taking plays. They will also introduce some local features that will be very interesting. The plays rendered by this company are none of the "wild west" kind but are refined, full of fun, pathos and on the whole very real like. Bellefonters all want to see this company, which carries one of the best bands and orchestras on the road.

A Proclamation.

In humble and devout acknowledgement of the good hand of God upon our people in grateful recognition of the custom established by our fathers, and in pursuance of the proclamation of the President of the United States, I do hereby designate Thursday, the 27th day of November, A. D., 1890, as Thanksgiving Day.

In order that the day may be properly observed, and that all people throughout the Commonwealth may join in the religious services and social enjoyment for which it is designed, I earnestly recommend that all ordinary business be suspended, that the people assemple in their respective places of worship to render thanks to the bounteous giver of all good for the blessings which have crowned the year; that the paternal roof and family hearthstone be made the gathering place, as far as possible, of all who can join in the social features of the day and that substantial comfort and whole some cheer be distributed in generous abundance, by those who enjoy plenty to those who suffer lack.

Given under my hand and the Great Seal of the State, at the City of Harrisburg, this Eleventh day of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety, and of the Commonwealth the one hundred and fifteenth.

JAMES A. BEAVER.

Not This Year Though.

It is possible, yea probable that the Centre county Teacher's Institute will be held in Philipsburg this year: This is as it should be. There can be no reason why it should be held yearly in any one place, provided other places can offer the requisite accommodation. Without any reservation we say that there is no more suitable place in the county at which the assembling of teachers could take place than at Philipsburg. Our school buildings are unexcelled, the hotel accomodation first-class and ample, and the opera house for the lectures, the most commodious and elegant of anything of the kind in the county. The citizens are courteous and hospitble, (so have said publicly those representative bodies who have met here,) and we believe that Centre county's teachers would not desire a more suitable place to meet at than our "little mountain city." Philipsburg Ledger.

Yes, there are great possibilities of such being the case but very little probability of it.

Denman Thompson.

Here is a pen picture of Denman Thompson, the famous Uncle Joshua of "The Old Homestead," now in its fourth year at the Academy, New York. A chubby, sturdy body of fifty-seven years, about five feet six in heighth, with a kindly face, adorned by a pair of keen blue gray eyes and a tender, expressive mouth, in the corners of which lurk laughing shadows, which account for much of the humor found in his great creation. His head is shapely set on a pair of neighborly shoulders, and though his hair glistens with the snowy frost of time, his complexion so ruddy and healthful that he has been obliged to resort to paints to secure the bronze face of the hardy old New Englander he so admirably portrays.

Perhaps few of our readers know that the above man is an old Centre countian, and yet such is the fact.

—When both doors at the opera house entrance are open it admits a very cold draught which blows over those persons seated near the middle aisle. The doors should be closed only when some one is entering or else the curtains dividing off the lobby should be dropped.

—The Lock Haven Democrat thinks that in the case of Dick Quay vs. Mrs. Watkins a cowhide would not be the right thing to apply to a calf'shide. Looking at it that way we ask, how would the calf look all nicely dressed out with a full coat of feathers—tarred on, you know?

Another Good Meal.

Norman Lodge, No. 23, A. Y. M., will hold a turkey and chicken and waffle supper next week, on Thursday evening, November 20th, commencing at 5 o'clock p. m. Cake, ice cream, coffee and tea will be served. The public in general is cordially invited. The supper will be held in the now vacant store room next the Watchman office.

Foot Ball Game.

On Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock the foot ball team from the Altoona railroad shops will play the College team on the grounds at that place.

—A teacher in one of the lower counties of the state received the following note from an angry parent: "October the 6 1890 when my Boys are Staing away from Skule I have Work for Them, and when they are home, that is non of your bizness, you hain't renning My Shenty not by a dem Side, at My home."

—How stately Col. J. L. Spangler's house will look when completed. Col. Wilkinson's will look like a play house alongside of the other Colonel's:

THE WAITE COMEDY COMPANY.

Give an Excellent Performance of Uncle Reuben—Fine Music.

The reports that came to Bellefonte that the Waite Comedy company was a good one and that they carried the finest band and orchestra on the road were not in the least exaggerated. The music is the finest that has been with any troupe in Bellefonte this season and as to the company, well it is all that is claimed for it, and more too.

The play of "Uncle Reuben" is one that requires good acting to bring out its fine points and the performance on Monday evening was entirely satisfactory to all. Jas. R. Waite was an ideal "Uncle Reuben," playing his part with that naturalness that alone distinguishes good acting. Miss Crego, as "Gertrude," could not be improved upon. The lady is rather slim, of prepossessing appearance and at once becomes popular with the audience from her charming ways, but in the end she is a surprise. When she comes to act a difficult part she seems to swell right out to the part she is playing. One minute the tragedy queen the next the pleading suppliant, and in all characters so natural and real like as to entirely carry away her hearers. She was much applauded. Harry Knight, who played the part of the false Count is one of those mild mannered, smooth tongued villains who never become excited. His part of the count was well acted. In brief, the entire company in their distinct and separate roles played their parts perfectly, and we can safely promise Bellefonters a week's amusement such as they have never enjoyed before. Go to-night if you want to be hugely entertained and we can assure you you will not go away disappointed.

Snow Shoe Pencilings.

Mrs. Thos. McCann and interesting little son, Paul, returned from Tyrone Saturday.

The funeral of Mrs. C. Watson, on last Sunday, was one of the largest that ever occurred in Snow Shoe. The I. O. O. F. turned out in a body. There were 41 conveyances in the procession. The services were conducted by Rev. W. W. Cadle, pastor of the M. E. church, at 11 o'clock a. m., at the home of deceased. Interment in Union cemetery.

Our genial friend, E. C. Poorman, one of Milesburg's most efficient commercial men, accompanied by his wife, spent Friday at the Mountain House.

We are glad to state that our young friend, Miss Lena Roth, was selected to teach the Gordon Height school for the coming term. It is one of the new schools just finished. We wish our young friend success.

The pleasant and popular hostess of the Mountain House, Mrs. M. C. Nolan, accompanied by her son James, spent Thursday in Williamsport, attending while there Chaapell's flower show and bringing back with her some beautiful specimens of the exhibit in the shape of begonias.

Our two charming little friends, Louisa and Katherine Burns, left on Saturday for Bellefonte where they spent Sunday.

Rev. W. O. Wright, of Milesburg, registered at the Mountain House on Saturday;

Friday noon's train brought Miss Sue Grafius and friend, guests of Mrs. Dr. Stewart, of Pine Glen.

Mr. G. W. Rote, the pleasant and obliging young man in the Co. store at Clarence, spent Sunday in our little city of the Shoe. He should be dubbed Mark Twain, No. 2.

Mr. D. G. Stewart, of Pine Glen, was in town Wednesday, bidding his friends good bye,

Mr. Amos Mullen, one of the solid citizens of Bellefonte, was in town shaking hands with his friends on Saturday.

We are sorry to state that Rev. Father Kohl is quite ill at his home on Walnut street, Dr. Lytle, of Philipsburg, attending him.

The students of the Grammar school raised funds among themselves and purchased a Webster's unabriged dictionary donating it to the school: Quite commendable on their part.

Hunters are becoming more numerous than game. Saturday's noon train brought about a dozen hunters equipped with dogs and the other requisite regalia.

Mr. E. Millard, lately married, brought Snow Shoe an addition, socially speaking, in the person of his bride, one of Milesburg's fair daughters. We wish them a prosperous and happy life.

Miss Anna Krape departed for her home in Spring Mills on Saturday. She expects to return to Snow Shoe soon, where during her short stay she has made many friends,

The new firm of McMullen & Co., is doing a thriving business. Their customers are treated with so much courtesy and consideration and their purchases delivered that all who buy there are delighted, and consequently their trade is increasing.

Our good natured druggist, J. S. Ewing, who was slightly indisposed during the week, is again at his post behind the counter, we are glad to say.

Mr. W. A. Lathrop, of Wilkesbarre, general superintendent of the Lehigh Valley Coal Co., registered at the Mt. House on Saturday evening. The Gen. never looked better. Looks as though Wilkesbarre were treating him nicely. He was on his way to the hunting camp. It is scarcely fair that the deer in this vicinity were not warned of his coming, as he will doubtless slay numbers of them.

Mr. F. A. Boak, of Hughsville, accompanied by some half dozen acquaintances, passed through Snow Shoe on their way home from the hunting camp known as Wild Wood. Mr. Col. Eyre Pile, of Bellefonte, spent Sunday in Snow Shoe.

Mr. Thomas Maher, the popular proprietor of the Potter House, Karthaus, was in town shaking hands with his hosts of friends on Friday. Tommy is a clever six inches taller since the arrival of a certain novelty in the shape of a new guest.

O. F. Switzer of Philipsburg, the most popular and and successful commercial man on the road was the busiest man in the town on Thursday.

Quite a ludicrous mistake occurred at Clarence, on Thursday evening. A subscription was immediately raised and a strong pair of glasses ordered sent to one of the Beech Creek conductors. It was simply a case of mistaken identiy. Rather embarrassing "Things are not what they seem."especially in borrowed plumes." But wear the glasses by all means.

"Shadows" sometimes wilt down into solid substance, and tall substance, too.

H. M. Daiesman of Philipsburg was in the City of the Shoe on last Friday, shaking hands with his many friends.

Mt. Union Thanksgiving services in the Presbyterian Church of this place will be held by Rev. W. W. Cadle. Don't forget it at half past ten a. m.

Pension Payments.

The report of the Commissioner of Pensions is exciting some comment because of the very large amount of money expended for the relief of deserving veterans during the last fiscal year. The disbursements amounted to $106,493,290, and the number of beneficiaries was 537,744. The disability pension act, which was passed at the last session, was a step in advance of any previous legislation on the subject, and under its operations many thousands will be added to the list of pensioners. If it be said that no other country ever provided so liberally for its dependent veterans, it can at the same time be affirmed that no other country was ever served better by its citizen-soldiery, and that no other nation ever owed a deeper debt of gratitude to its defenders.

The country was surely worth saving, and it would be a lasting disgrace should the Government falter in its hitherto humane and patriotic purpose to save from want all who had risked health and life in the service. There may be, indeed are, those who maintain that the old soldiers are getting more than they deserve. They are not agreed umong themselves as to how far the Government should go. Some contend that there should be no further enlargement of the pension laws; others went so far as to advocate a service pension; while the great majority of the Grand Army men seemed to be satisfied with the disability pension. The republican party, which was pledged to so enlarge the pension laws as "to provide against the possibility that any man who honorably wore the Federal uniform should become the inmate of an almshouse or dependent upon private charity." passed the disability pension act. It will involve large expenditures, to be sure, but the maintenance above want of the brave men who saved the Union through their valor is an obligation which ought to be met. No one pretends that is above the ability of the Nation to pay: Those who find fault with these expenditures on the ground of extravagance will use their influence to have them reduced. There will be no service pension in the immediate future. The recent elections determined that. It is not to be expected, that a Congress made up for the most part of Southern Brigadiers and Northern Bourbons will do as much for the old soldiers as the Republican party has done. If there are veterans who voted with the Democrats to punish the Republican party for not having taken better care of those who are disabled among them, they will be undeceived in due time.

Death of Edward Smith,

Saturday morning at 5 o'clock Edward Smith, of Milesburg, died from pleurisy after a brief illness. Mr. Smith was born December 12, 1846, and was therefore almost 44 years of age. The funeral will occur on Monday at 1 o'clock p. m. and will be conducted by the Odd Fellows of which order he was a member. All members of the Lodge are requested to meet promptly at 12 o'clock.

—Some young men who attend the opera house are very anxious to have the entire audience know they are present. To accomplish this purpose they will go from one part of the house to another, between acts, and take a chair, Poor fellows!

—There are a number of young men in Bellefonte who have special pieces they would like to hear Georgie Dean Spaulding play on her harp, but they are all afraid to present a request.

Public Spiritedness.

Talk about being public spirited, there are very few men who are thus endowed. A Bellefonter, while speaking of the benevolence of Mr. Morrison, who died a few weeks ago in Tyrone and who bequeathed $60,000 to found a library in Tyrone, said that there are a number of men in Bellefonte who are fully able to donate a fund for a free liboard in Bellefonte, and that they would not need to wait until they were dead, either.

Now there is the point we desire to raise. Is it true public spiritedness that induces a wealthy man to thus appropriate the money or property he has accumulated, or are such bequests made only because there is no person that is especial favorite and to whom they would prefer leaving their wealth? This is not true public spiritedness but rather a selfish disposal. The very fact that the man waited until death to make his bequests shows a selfish spirit and the fact that the money was even then donated for a public good proves nothing only that there was really no other way to get rid of it: If a rich man want's to do good for his fellow-men why don't he build public institutions or libraries, etc., before they die, then they can have the managing of such work. They can see that their appropriations are properly and rightly used.

Now then the question arising is this. If there are men in Bellefonte, and there are, who are able to bequeath money for the public good, they are just as well able to take that amount of money now and themselves do the good work. How many men are there in Bellefonte who will give the matter any consideration? A public library in Bellefonte would; be great thing. Is there any one man or a or half a dozen men who will go together and show the right kind of public spiritedness by devoting a little of their surplus fund to create a public good? Time will tell.

Y. M. C. A. COMMITTEES.

Young Gentlemen who are Expected to Work for the Association.

During last week every member of the following committees of the Y. M C. A, was notified by mail of his appointment, and as there has been but one who declined to serve, it is presumed that a year of active and profitable work is before the Association, the committees are:

Some Facts About Marriage.

In 1889, 13 per cent of all the men married in Pennsylvania married women older than themselves. Eighty per cent married them younger than themselves, and the remaining 7 per cent took wives their own age. The average age of the men was 27 years, and of the women 23 years. More men are married at 23 and more women at 21. This seems the favorite time. A woman of 59 married a man of 31, and a girl of 23 married an old man of 74. The youngest couple who ventured into matrimony was a boy of 17 and a girl of 15. One man of 54 married a girl of 18. His age was just three times hers; and a man of 48 took a girl of 17. Where the men are older, the difference in ages varies, but where the women are older it rarely exceeds five years. Two boys of 16 were married, and two graybeards of 80 tried the same thing, probably not for the first time. Of 14.726 women married, whose ages were given, 4,066, or 27.5 per cent., were less than 20 years old.

Not Above Work.

An exchange says: Every one to his taste, and if a millionaire chooses to work out by the day, why not? There is a rare avis of this kind living near Troy. His father keeps a farm for breeding horses, by which he has made an enormous fortune. He is cultivated, well bred and dresses fashionably, but his son can be hired at any time by any one for $1.50 a day to dig or hoe potatoes, and is not above taking his meals in the kitchen with his fellow workers. This is a true story, and I would give you his name if I had not so bad a memory. I have met him, and talked with him, and found him most intelligent and gentleman like. Fancy one of the Vanderbilts milking your cow and feeding your chickens for a small salary.

Hastings for the Senate.

The Bradford (Towando) Republican says: General D. H. Hastings, though defeated of the nomination for Governor by the Quay rule in the State Convention, acted the manly part as a true Republican, and gave Senator Delamater his support and did all an honorable man was called upon to do to aid his election. General Hastings is one of the ablest and most popular Republicans in the State. We believe that there is a very general feeling among the Republicans of Pennsylvania that it is time to change the State's representation in the Senate of the United States. We believe also that among that class of Republicans who desire the perpetuation of party ascendency divested of personal rule in the State, and the elevation of a better and abler man to the place now occupied by Senator J. D. Cameron, they would naturally turn to General, Hastings as the proper man, and as the man who would honor the State and dignity of the office. We most earnestly hope to see a movement inaugurated prior to the assembling of the Legislature looking to placing General Hastings in the United States Senate.

Literary Note from the Century Co.

Mr. Israel C, Russell, of the United States Geological Survey who was detailed by the Government to take charge of the recent expedition, fitted out by the National Geographic Society, for the exploration of the region about Mount St. Elias, Alaska, will contribute to The Century Magazine an account of the experience of his party, accompanied by illustrations from photographs made at the time. The results of the expedition are the exploration of a large tract of country never before visited by man, lying between Yakutat Bay and Mount St. Elias, and important globial and geological observations. An area of 1000 square miles was accurately mapped, and the elevations of all the mountain determined. St. Elias, the highest peak in the region, instead of being 19,500 feet high as previously considered, has been reduced to about 14,000 feet; its position was determined to be west of the 141st meridian, and consequently, in accordance with the terms of the Seward purchase, in American, and not in British territory.

Personal Pencilings.

Harry Sternberg will soon depart for Seattle, Washington.

Major William F. Reynolds was in Philadelphia on Saturday.

James B. Strohm returned on Wednesday evening from Williamsport.

Mr. J. A. Aikens, wife and daughter, Emma, were in Tyrone on Wednesday.

We are glad to hear that Sheriff Cooke is improving in health.

John P Harris, Ex. Governor Curtin and Judge Furst were all in Altoona on Tuesday.

Mrs. Greenwood, of Orbisonia, is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Rowe, on East Howard street.

Mr. James Pierpont is visiting in Bellefonte and on Tuesday evening attended the performance at the opera house.

Miss Sallie Trafford, of South Williamsport, is visiting at the home of her brother, Mr. John Trafford, of East Howard street. She will remain until the holidays.

Pointed and Pertinent.

A rose, is only worth a scent and the florist nose it:

There are some people in the world who do not understand etiquette well enough to know when they are insulted

People who decide a dispute by tossing up a penny have more money than brains.

A poor farm operated by poor farmers would not be a paying investment.

Carlyle said of one of the Revolutionary characters: "He didn't have enough truth in him to make a good liar.' Such people are still in the land of the living.

Cornelius Vanderbilt recently paid $80,000 for two pictures. It really seems as if that fellow never would learn the value of money.

—On Monday afternoon policeman Gares and Detective Mullen arrested one Thomas Hall, who is wanted in Lewistown on a charge of jail breaking and to complete a two years sentence he was serving there. The man broke jail some time ago and in his second trip to Bellefonte, where he comes to see his parents who live at the Centre Iron Company's works. He is a man about 25 years old. He was convicted last fall for engaging in a riot at the opera house and sentenced for two years.

Of course it may come to pass that a man must either fight or run. In such cases we have no advice to give. He must work out his own salvation in fear and trembling.

TWO GREAT GATHERINGS.

Meeting of the Young Men at 4 o'clock Next Sunday—Anniversary, in the Evening.

Next Sunday promises to be a somewhat notable day in the religous affairs of this town. The Young Men's Christian Association is beginning the Fall and winter campaign with renewed and it is hoped sanctified energy, and will hold two gatherings of importance on that day. Let us hope that the prayers of the faithful ladies who have been petitioning the throne of grace for them and also their own prayers may be abundantly answered at 4 o'clock the usual service will be held in Associatian Hall. Mr. E. C. Hurlburt, State Secretary will be present and there will likely be others who will add interest to the meeting. Every young man is invited. Then at 7 o'clock the 20th anniversary service will be held in the Presbyterian church. There will be so much to see and hear at this service that we cannot enumerate all. Let all the business men, and the people generally attend this service, and it may be the beginning of a great work for good, for truth and for right in our town.

Decease of Mrs. H. S. Stein.

The deepest and tenderest sympathy is due and we are assured is extended to Mr. R. S. Stine, who has been called upon to sustain the most severe loss a man can be called upon to bear. For many years his home has been one of happiness and contentment, with a fair prospect of many years of companionship but in the unerring providence of God it has been willed otherwise.

Eight days since Mrs. Stine gave birth to her sixth child all of whom are living the oldest being about fourteen years of age. For a few days after her confinement she appeared to be going on well but fever set in, resulting in death. What is a home without a mother? has often been asked; a dreary spot indeed, with so many little ones, however kind a father they may have.

The deceased, who passed away about ten o'clock, was a native of Bald Eagle Valley, and her mortal remains will be conveyed from South Philipsburg thence for interment.—Philipsburg Journal.

—An exchange says: "How dear to this heart is the old yellow pumpkin, when orchards are barren for stuffing for pies; when peaches and apples have both been a failure, and berries of no kind have greeted the eyes; how fondly we turn to the fruit of the corn field—the fruit that our children are taught to despise—the old yellow pumpkin, the mud covered pumpkin, the big bellied pumpkin that makes such good pies!"

Letter List.

The following letters remain in the Bellefonte P. O. unclaimed Nov. 17 90.

J. P. Ben Bently, Miss Eilie Brown, Miss Mary Beere, Mrs. Bell Dury, Dr. L. R. Gregory, Daniel Lose, Mr. John Mayear, Miss Katie Meek, Frank Morrison, Mr. John Zarrierrs, Miss Mary Stereson.

When called for please say advertised:

J. A. FIEDLER, P. M.

—A handsome man, and a pretty, fibe looking woman, have been swindling the parsons in the wooden nutmeg State, by getting married half a dozen times a day, the man offering a $20 bill, saying at the same time that he would like to pay a fee of $5. The ministers soon found that the $20 bils were counterfeit, and that they were out the change $15, they had each given the handsome groom.

—Westmoreland county against the world. A woman made application for a marriage license in the above county one day last week and when asked how old she was, replied 26. To the question "Was you ever married?" see replied that she had been and that her husband was killed during the late rebellion—about 25 years ago. Poor thing! how young she was when left a widow.

—The front has been torn out of the room occupied by Green's drug store and carpenters are now at work fitting in large plate glass windows. The same will be done to the room occupied by Sechler & Co. This will be a great improvement on the appearance of the Bush House front.

—Persons now and then remark, that we did not make mention of their friends while visiting them. As we have said heretofore, several times, we publish all that we know of and we can not be expected to know of every person visiting in our own. We yas gain,, hand us a slip of paper with their names and we will be pleased to publish them.
